'Hungary' Haunts Peking

HONG KONG (Reuters)—China's Communist party has warned against the risk of a counter-revolution and said there will be bloodshed unless steps are taken to stop it. The warning came Friday in an editorial comment by the party's theoretical magazine Red Flag, quoted by Radio Peking and monitored here. It warned that the party and China "may change color and hundreds of people may lose their lives" unless precautions are taken to prevent attempts by the bourgeoisie to seize power. Red Flag called on the Chinese people to guard against a "counter-revolutionary" uprising of the Hungarian type in 1956.

Canada, U.S. Lift Copper

LUSAKA, Zambia (AP)—A U.S. and Canadian airlift to help Zambia export its vast copper production is expected to be announced within the next few days, diplomatic sources said Friday. There was no immediate indication whether the Canadian and U.S. planes were being provided by private airlines or by governments.

'Mid-Air Mid-Air Mid-Air'

EDWARDS AFB, Calif. (UPI)—An air force investigation board heard dramatic radio tapes Thursday of the fatal collision of the triple-sonic XB-70 research bomber and an F-104 starfighter chase plane flown by veteran test pilot Joe Walker.

Walker and air force Maj. Carl Cross, co-pilot of the $500,000,000 XB-70, were killed Wednesday when the two planes plunged into the Mojave Desert north of Bartow. The tapes contained a description of the collision by air force Col. Joe Cotton, who was riding in a T-38 chase plane when the impact occurred.

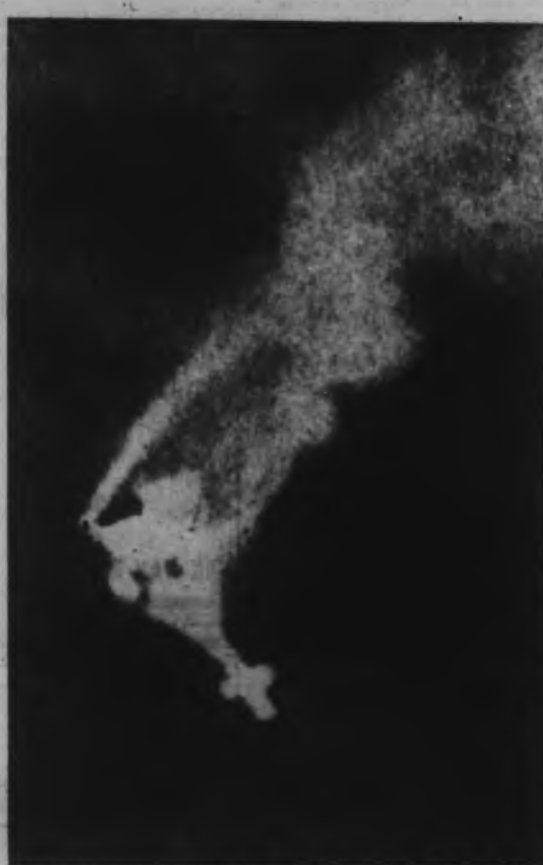

'Your Tail Is Gone' "Mid-air... Mid-air... Mid-air," Cotton could be heard saying. Seconds later he calmly began to give instructions to the XB-70 pilot, Al White, with whom he had flown on most of the huge plane's mission. "O.K.," Cotton said. "You're straight and level—good shape."

Then, "Okay, it looks like your tail is gone... you'll probably spin..." "Now you're beginning to spin—bad out!"

'Al Is Out' As the six-jet bomber spun toward earth, Cotton reported: "One capsule has ejected. I don't know which one." Seconds later he said, "It's the left capsule. Al is out."

For reasons unknown, neither Cross nor Walker ejected. The air force acknowledged Thursday that the collision occurred during a tight formation flight to allow pictures to be taken by a General Electric photographer flying in a civilian jet.

Federal Mediator Moves Into Fray

'Gap Closing' In Quebec Dock Strike

MONTREAL (CP)—Representatives of the Shipping Federation of Canada and of the striking International Longshoremen's Association (ILA) are to meet with Labor Minister Nicholson in Ottawa today.

The announcement was made by the mediators in the current strike of longshoremen at Montreal, Quebec City and Trois-Rivières.

The mediators would not speculate on a settlement, but said the issues now are more "sharply defined" and that the gap between the parties has narrowed considerably.

TORONTO (CP)—A federal labor department mediator has moved directly into a dispute between Air Canada and its 1,453 sales employees, attempting to prevent a strike set for midnight Wednesday night.

The "seriousness of this situation" was emphasized by Labor Minister Nicholson in Ottawa after the Canadian Airline Employees Association (Ind.) announced Friday it had voted 1,201 in favor of the strike.

Air Canada said it will operate its flights on schedule, using supervisory personnel, despite the strike called by workers handling tickets, reservations, airport counters, teletypes and public offices.

"We don't anticipate any wildcat or sympathy strikes," said an airline spokesman. "We expect all other employee groups of AC to honor our agreements with their unions."

Nielsen Heats Up Bankruptcy Hunt

OTTAWA (CP)—Justice department officials said Friday night they are looking into "new information" about alleged multi-million-dollar credit frauds by some bankrupt firms.

Conservative MP Erik Nielsen said the information was given to RCMP by some of his informants. It involved 50 legitimate and dummy corporations or syndicates in four provinces suspected of fraud.

He said the federal and provincial governments lost an estimated $150,000,000 in tax revenue last year as a result of bankruptcy frauds.

Mr. Nielsen, the lawyer and MP for Yukon who broke the Lucien Rivard ball affair in 1964, said in an interview the firms involved were located in four provinces, mostly Quebec and Ontario.

Names of individuals also had been provided the RCMP. He said informants came to him and some of them agreed to talk with RCMP officers in the last few days.

Businessman In Coma

Sinatra Quizzed After Bar Fight

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—A prominent Beverly Hills businessman was in serious condition with head injuries Friday night and singer Frank Sinatra had a discolored eye following a cocktail-lounge altercation, police reported.

Police quoted Sinatra as saying the man hit him near the eye without provocation and that he did not strike back.

In Mt. Sinai Hospital was a Frederick R. Weisman, 54, former president of Hunt Foods, Inc., and brother-in-law of financier Norton Simon. Weisman remained unconscious more than 48 hours after the incident in the Polo Lounge of the fashionable Beverly Hills Hotel.

'LOUD-MOUTHED' Detectives said Sinatra, 50, told them he, singer Dean Martin and Giuliano (Jilly) Rizzo, New York restaurateur, were about to leave at 1:30 a.m. Wednesday when Weisman approached and said: "You and your friends are loud-mouthed."

Sinatra said the man hit him on the cheek below the right eye. A hotel detective jumped between them.

TABLE BROKEN

The top of a cocktail table was broken from its base, apparently as Weisman fell across the table and then to the floor. Sinatra's party then left, and: "I looked behind me and as I left I saw a man on the floor." Sinatra told police: "I at no time saw anyone hit him, and I certainly did not."

A Swinging Honors List

LONDON (Reuters)—Movie actor Peter Sellers and members of the "swinging" London set were included today in Queen Elizabeth's birthday honors list.

Sellers, fashion designer Mary Quant and avant-garde playwright Harold Pinter were among recipients in a crop of titles handed out to mark the Queen's official birthday, when worthy persons receive honors.

Royal recognition of figures who have contributed to the current British explosion of activity in the arts, "pop" culture and youthful dress and fashions followed a precedent set last year when the Beatles singing group were made Members of the Order of the British Empire (MBE).

Possibly the "high priestess" of the swinging London cult is Mary Quant, whose sharply distinctive styles for the young London set rocketed her to success.

Quant clothes now sell all over the world, and at the age of 32 she becomes an Officer of the Order of the British Empire (OBE).

Peter Sellers has appeared in many of Britain's top pictures of the 1960s. He was made a Commander of the Order of the British Empire (CBE).

Also made a CBE was Harold Pinter, whose new wave plays were a sensation on British television and whose play The Caretaker was a stage hit in London and New York.

Of the five persons made barons in the list, one is Sir John Hunt, who led the British conquest of Mount Everest in 1953.

Hunt, 55, was knighted soon after the Everest feat. For the last 10 years he has been secretary to Prince Philip's award program aimed at stimulating outdoor adventure by young persons.

Nielsen Spurs Fraud Hunt

"Their fear had to be overcome," he said, referring to his sources' fear of underworld reprisals.

Mr. Nielsen said the suspected bankruptcy frauds are often connected and have deprived the federal and provincial governments of $150,000,000 in tax revenue.

"This is only a fraction of the real losses," he said, adding that the information supplied by his informants covered only a portion of the bankruptcy fraud racket.

Racketeers used extremely complex methods to take over legitimate firms or set up fictitious ones, bilking millions of dollars from the authorities. "I have seen the bankruptcy fraud racket," he said.

A bill to amend the Bankruptcy Act has been passed by the Senate and awaits Commons action. It would strengthen the powers of the superintendent of bankruptcy to launch federal investigations when frauds are suspected.

The justice department is training two lawyers to become full-time bankruptcy fraud investigators. One will be posted in Montreal, the other in Toronto.

Mr. Nielsen said he will not want to give every possible opportunity for the investigation to be conducted without prejudice.

He said he exchanged correspondence with Justice Minister Cardin on the matter.

Mr. Nielsen said last winter he would make a statement in the Commons divulging documentary evidence he has about alleged bankruptcy frauds. Recently he said his sources feared underworld violence and asked him not to disclose detailed information.

"Action is finally being taken by the government," he said Friday. "I will do nothing to prejudice the investigation."

In Sorel, Que., Justice Minister Cardin said his department is "looking into the allegations" brought up in the Commons by Mr. Nielsen.

Asked if the investigations would be carried out by the RCMP or turned over to the provincial police organizations involved, Mr. Cardin said:

"That's all I can tell you. I have no further comment."

Federal Mediator

Transportation of air cargo and mail "should be unaffected," he said.

Mr. Nicholson said it was unusual to appoint a senior labor department official as a mediator, but "I think the man we have is the best qualified for the job."

Only workers in Canada would be affected. The federally-operated carrier has flights to the British Isles, Europe, the Caribbean and U.S. cities. It has 250 flights a day in Canada.

In a statement Air Canada said it "will maintain air service to the travelling public."

The association is seeking a two-year contract with a 20-per-cent wage increase to match U.S. airlines pay. Passenger agents now start at $64.70 a week, rising after 5½ years to $109.49; teletype operators start at $60.69, to a maximum $95.59; switchboard operators at $51.80, rising to $76.10.

In Montreal, Air Canada said it had twice reached agreement with the association on a new contract but in both cases the agreements were not ratified by the membership.

The other baronies in today's list went to international affairs expert Ritchie Calder, Sir William McFadden, chairman of the National Export Council; John Cooper, General and Municipal Workers Union chief, and Arthur Moyle, once aide to former Labor prime minister Clement Attlee.

Soccer was honored with a knighthood for Football League president Joe Richards. This award also went to leading British composer Michael Tippett, top Australian portrait painter William Dobell and Professor Martin Ryle, one of the world's leading radio astronomers.

Honors for sportsmen included the OBE for Australian racing driver Jack Brabham, twice world champion, and to chess expert Harry Golombek.

The MBE went to Ron Clarke, Australian world long-distance champion runner.

In industry, the OBE went to union leader Joe O'Hagan, a member of the court of inquiry into Britain's current seamen's strike — and Christopher Cockrell, inventor of the Hovercraft, a seaborne vessel that travels on a cushion of air.

Calcium Deposit on Lung Souvenir of Old Wound

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD

Dear Dr. Molner: I read your article on the two kinds of hardening of the arteries, and you stated that calcium deposits caused heart attacks and strokes. If I understood correctly, in that case, what does a calcium spot on the lung mean? — M.C.H.

Well, I guess I didn't get the idea over exactly the way I wanted to. You seem to think that there's something inherently bad about calcium and calcium deposits, and that's not quite right.

When an infected or irritated area heals, you may frequently find calcium in the scar tissue. It is an essential part of providing strong healing.

A calcium spot on the lung means that at one time there was a wound, or infection or worse injury to the lung, and it healed, leaving the calcium spot — which shows up by X-ray examination.

Assuming that the area now is thoroughly healed, that calcium spot is just a souvenir of something that once happened. It represents no danger to you now unless, of course, the scarring and calcification are so extensive as to interfere with functioning of the lungs. But that would be more than a "spot."

Now let's get to the hardened arteries. All of us have gradual hardening of the arteries as we grow up. It's a progressive process that continues pretty much throughout our lives. Some hardening, therefore, is nothing to be alarmed about. It is only when the hardening becomes extreme that we need to be concerned.

HALT FLOW

The hardening isn't entirely from calcium, either, although some of it is present. The bigger factor is the gradual accumulation of fatty deposits which, if they become too extreme, can interfere with free flow of blood through the arteries, and at times contribute to a clot shutting off the flow drastically.

That, and not calcium, is the mischief-maker which is responsible for some (but not all) heart attacks and strokes.

Dear Dr. Molner: My baby was born very recently. Can I get pregnant before I start my regular periods again? — MRS. C.A.

Yes, because ovulation occurs before menstruation. When ovulation occurs, pregnancy is possible — and if you become pregnant the first time you ovulate, you will not (usually) have a menstrual period at all. Time of first ovulation after childbirth varies, but for 50 per cent of women it is within three months or less. I have known some women not to have a menstrual period for five years or more, because after each child, they became pregnant again before they had time to have a period.

Harbor Pact Promises Big Plans

VANCOUVER (CP)—A real estate and harbor development pact costing perhaps $250,000,000 will follow the signing Friday of an agreement settling an age-old property dispute.

The agreement between Canadian Pacific Railway and National Harbors Board divides ownership of 1½ miles of the south shore of Vancouver Harbor.

N. R. Crump of Montreal, chairman of the CPR board, said planning is under way for a $200,000,000 commercial and residential development, most of which will be over the CPR waterfront tracks.

Howard Mann, NHB chairman, said work will start shortly on one three-berth deepsea dock.

Reporters at the press conference at which the announcements were made said Transport Minister Pickersgill recently mentioned a $50,000,000 figure for harbor development. Mr. Mann said an estimate cannot be made at this stage.

The agreement ended a dispute that dates back to 1880, when the CPR transcontinental line was started. Both the federal government and the railway claimed the 200 acres of waterfront serviced by the railway.

The settlement provides for a 50-50 split with the borderline starting at Burrard Street. The NHB takes the east side, which includes water deep enough for deep sea ships.

The CPR gets lands bordering shallow water, which are more suitable for a "marine oriented" real estate development.

The government agency purchases the CPR's pier B.C. for $3,741,000 and leases it back to the CPR for 20 years and at the same time agrees to give priority in construction of the new deepsea dock. Mr. Mann said construction could start next year.

Mr. Mann said after the agreement was signed: "Queen Victoria would be absolutely delighted that a difficulty that started in her reign now is coming to a conclusion."

Both men refused to put a time limit on their proposals or to go into details.

Mr. Mann said the harbor development probably would be in three phases.

NO ELEVATORS

It would not include grain elevators because it had been shown that the North Shore of the harbor was best for bulk cargo handling.

Mr. Crump said the real estate development could take as much as 20 years to reach completion. It would be "phased" into the city's needs.

He said Woodward's Stores Ltd., Grosvenor-Laing Development Ltd. and the CPR are some of the principals in the group.

PARKING

The development, called project 200, would cover the equivalent of eight city blocks, provide an open plaza free from traffic and would "integrate well with the surrounding land and provide an attractive environment within downtown Vancouver."

There would be parking for 5,000 cars.

The agreement provides that the CPR will provide accommodation for all ocean passenger ships, ending worries that the giant P&O ships that stop here would have no berths.

Train Wreck Said Sabotage

He said railway officials suspect the Awami League which demands autonomy for East Pakistan.

Federal Mediator

Transportation of air cargo by mail "should be unaffected."

Mr. Nicholson said it was unusual to appoint a senior labor department official as a mediator, but "I think the man we have is the best qualified for the job."

ONLY IN CANADA

Only workers in Canada would be affected. The federally-operated carrier has flights to the British Isles, Europe, the Caribbean and U.S. cities. It has 250 flights a day in Canada.

In a statement Air Canada said it "will maintain air service to the travelling public."

The association is seeking a two-year contract with a 20-per cent wage increase to match U.S. airlines pay. Passenger agents now start at $64.70 a week, rising after 5 1/2 years to $109.49; teletype operators start at $60.69, to a maximum $95.39; switchboard operators at $51.80, rising to $76.10.

In Montreal, Air Canada said it had twice reached agreement with the association on a new contract but in both cases the agreements were not ratified by the membership.

In Montreal, the other in Toronto.

Mr. Nielsen said he will not want to give every possible opportunity for the investigation to be conducted without prejudice.

He said he exchanged correspondence with Justice Minister Cardin on the matter.

Mr. Nielsen said last winter he would make a statement in the Commons divulging documentary evidence he has about alleged bankruptcy frauds. Recently he said his sources feared underworld violence and asked him not to disclose detailed information.

"Action is finally being taken by the government," he said Friday. "I will do nothing to prejudice the investigation."

In Sorel, Que., Justice Minister Cardin said his department is "looking into the allegations" brought up in the Commons by Mr. Nielsen.

Asked if the investigations would be carried out by the RCMP or turned over to the provincial police organizations involved, Mr. Cardin said:

"That's all I can tell you. I have no further comment."

Train Wreck Said Sabotage

DACCA, Pakistan (AP)—East Pakistan's railway minister, Subhan Ahmed, told the provincial legislative assembly that sabotage caused a mail train derailment Friday in which eight persons were killed and more than 100 injured. He said railway officials suspect the Awami League which demands autonomy for East Pakistan.

Marchers Target

BATESVILLE, MISS. (UPI) — State police arrested a white man Friday when he bore down with a sand-laden truck upon 500 "Mississippi freedom marchers" ridding through reputed Ku Klux Klan country.

There were no injuries and the unidentified white man would be charged with reckless driving, police said.

Before dusk, the column trooped into Batesville under the eyes of nearly 2,000 icy-faced whites. State police, their badge numbers concealed by tape, stood guard over the column. They would not explain the tape.

The marchers walked to the Coleman Chapel Am. Zion church in Batesville's Negro district, where big tables laden with food and a huge, 50-by-50 foot tent awaited them.

Many planned to spend the night in the tent, where the sexes were separated by a canvas drapery. Others planned to stay in the church and in private homes.

The march was to resume at 10 a.m. today.

Chief investigator Charles Snodgrass of the state bureau of investigation was at the head of the long line of marchers when a truck, loaded with sand, roared into view about a mile and a half north of Batesville.

"Move, move!" He screamed at the marchers, most of them Negroes. "Get out of the way! Watch it!"

The marchers, walking two abreast on the shoulder of Highway 51 against oncoming traffic, scattered. But the long rear-view mirror on the left side of the truck nearly struck several of them.

New Cabinet Next Week For Quebec

QUEBEC (CP) — Premier-elect Daniel Johnson Friday set next Thursday as a tentative date for an announcement on the makeup of his Quebec provincial cabinet.

The leader of the incoming Union Nationale government spoke to reporters at the end of a two-day party caucus. He said he will announce the cabinet immediately after he is sworn as premier.

Mr. Johnson said he believes it is possible the swearing in ceremony will take place next Thursday.

P.E.I. Parties Stand By For Recount

CHARLOTTETOWN (CP) — Three recounts in two of Prince Edward Island's 16 two-member riding will be held within the next week. The Conservatives and Liberals, tied 15-15 with two seats deferred after the May 30 election, will be watching for possible gains or losses.

"Biggest bloomin' Collins" is made with Gilbey's London Dry about the P & O flagship Canberra. Photo courtesy of P & O Orient Lines.

On board the world's crack liners expert bartenders know that one of the best gins for mixed drinks is Gilbey's London Dry. Its perfect balance gives a fresh, clean tasting drink. This fact is proven by the Canberra Tom Collins—the biggest bloomin' Collins sailing the seven seas!

Canberra—Tom Collins

There are two secrets to the Canberra Tom Collins. The first is of course Gilbey's London Dry Gin. By starting with Gilbey's you are certain of finishing with a fresh, clean tasting drink. You'll also need fresh lemon juice, sugar and soda water. The second secret (to make the biggest bloomin' Collins) is to use a 16 ounce glass!

Michelangelo—Sundowners

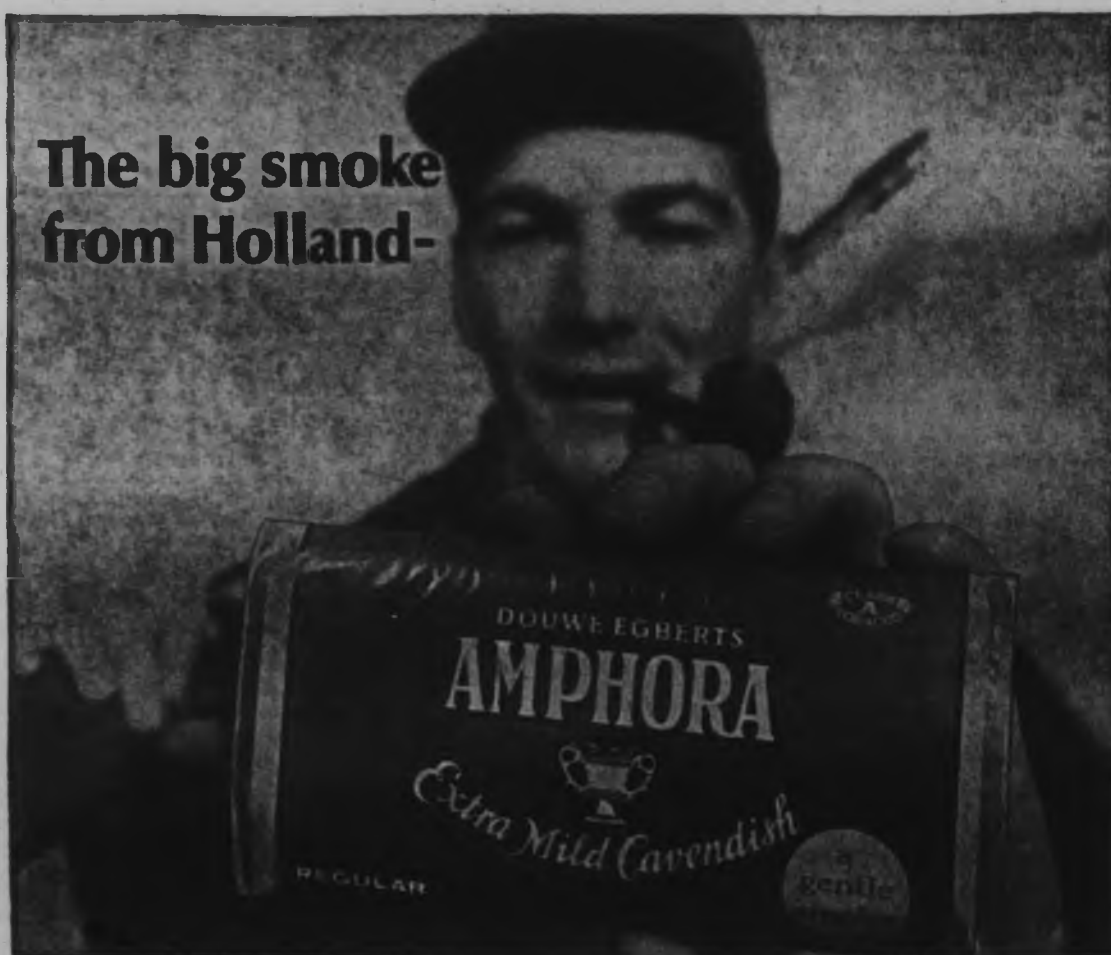

Italian superliner Michelangelo has jet-age smoke stacks that keep smoke off the decks whatever the weather. We mention this since clean air helps people enjoy the fresh, clean taste of Gilbey's London Dry Gin. With grapefruit juice and sugar Gilbey's becomes a Sundowner you'll enjoy at any time of the day.

You can rely on Gilbey's London Dry, a perfectly balanced gin that gives you a fresh, clean tasting drink. This gin is an international favourite, sold in 92 countries. It's been made by the Gilbey family for 109 years.

'This Is Wonderful'

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Declaring that a "heinous crime" must be punished, the state of Ohio Friday ordered a new trial for convicted wife-slayer Samuel H. Sheppard.

Sheppard, who served more than nine years in prison for the slaying of his first wife, said he was "all for" a new trial and that he would take the stand in his own defence.

"This is wonderful," the 42-year-old, one-time society osteopath said. "I'm ready to go to trial — tonight if necessary."

GOVERNMENT OF LAW

The new trial was ordered by Cuyahoga county prosecutor John T. Corrigan, whose office prosecuted Sheppard successfully in 1954.

"Society has been the victim of a heinous crime which demands redress," Corrigan said. "This is a government of law, not a government of men."

Sheppard will be re-tried on a second degree murder charge, the same charge he was convicted of 12 years ago.

The trial date will be set by Cuyahoga county common pleas court, but Corrigan said "September would be a good guess."

Sheppard

He said the September date would be in line with Monday's U.S. Supreme Court ruling that Sheppard be re-tried within a reasonable time or freed.

Corrigan said Sheppard would be allowed to post new bond and remain free until the trial date. The prosecutor said he himself would handle the prosecution "along with two assistants."

Sheppard, who has remarried since his first wife, Marilyn, 30, was bludgeoned in their suburban Bay Village home July 4, 1954, said he had no fears "except for my wife."

LOSES WEIGHT

"She's lost a little weight and I'm worried about her losing more," Sheppard said. "But as far as my fears and apprehensions, I have none. I know I can prove my innocence."

"This case should be thrown out of court once we get there. But I shouldn't speak from a legal standpoint. But what facts and evidence I am aware of, it seems to me the state does not have a case."

Sheppard said he would be willing to "take any sort of lie detector test as long as it is administered by experts." He said he did not believe the Cleveland police to be expert.

ASKS FOR IT

Sheppard and his second wife, the former Ariana Tebb-Johannes, a native of Germany whom he married in 1954, watched Corrigan's televised press conference in an upstairs bedroom of their suburban Rocky River home.

"This is the day I've been waiting for," Sheppard said. "I have asked for it. Not so much for myself but for my family, my wife, my son and all our relatives..."

"I'm used to this, but these people have been living with it for years and I think the strain is getting to them."

NO CIVIL ACTION

Sheppard said he planned no civil action against the press resulting from coverage of his first trial.

"I can make a living with my own two hands," he said, "and I don't need to go out and retaliate in this way in order to support my family."

In a 29-page opinion, the Supreme Court said unrestricted coverage by news media made Sheppard's trial a carnival.

NO SPECIAL SEATS

Corrigan said the press would not be permitted special seats at the new trial — a privilege which the high court criticized.

— and all seats would be on a first come, first served basis.

Corrigan said he decided on a new trial after reading the Supreme Court decision, reviewing a transcript of the first trial, and availability of evidence, witnesses and statements.

Sheppard has maintained from the start that a "bushy-haired" intruder killed his wife and that he struggled with the slayer but he escaped.

RELEASED IN 1963

The osteopath was sentenced to life imprisonment in 1954, but was released in 1963 under a habeas corpus action on orders of federal district judge Carl A. Weinman.

Sheppard has been under $10,000 bond since his release. The bond will be revoked, he will be charged with second degree murder and will be permitted to post new bond, Corrigan said. He said these steps would be taken as soon as Judge Weinman's 1963 release order is received by the prosecutor's office.

Cabinet Trio Harmonizes 'Bolster Lester'

By FRASEE KELLY
Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — Health Minister Allan MacEachen Friday night became the third federal cabinet minister in less than a week to issue a ringing defence of the leadership of Prime Minister Pearson.

In an obvious attempt to bolster Mr. Pearson's position in the Liberal party, Mr. MacEachen declared:

"History will record that our present leader... is and has been the right man in the right place at the right time. In Canada, in these troubled and changing times, we have been fortunate to have a leader who is courageous and constructive and who is able to see the varied and often sharply opposing aspects and attitudes involved in the problems and crises which confront us.

"A weaker man, who might be stronger in terms of bombast and rhetoric, would only have served to widen the chasm between the nations various groupings."

The speech to a Liberal group in Listowel, Ont., bore a marked resemblance to one delivered by Transport Minister Pickersgill in Newfoundland last week.

Conservative Rumor

Both men described Mr. Pearson as "courageous and constructive." Mr. Pickersgill said the Conservatives are responsible for the current public demand that both Mr. Pearson and Conservative leader Diefenbaker resign.

They are spreading this work, he said, because they feel it is the only way they can get rid of their own leader.

Finance Minister Sharp joined the "Bolster Lester" club in the Commons Thursday.

"I for one hope the prime minister remains as leader of this party as long as he feels he has the strength and the patience to continue," he declared.

"Within the Liberal party there is greater confidence in the leadership of the prime minister than there has ever been at any time since he took office," Mr. Sharp added.

There is now strong pressure on the other leadership aspirants in the party to jump on the save-Pearson bandwagon. It is understood that several ministers have been waiting for weeks for the opportunity to defend their leader. But Prime Minister Pearson ordered them not to.

Mr. Sharp admitted in his speech that forces within the party have been trying to undermine confidence in Mr. Pearson.

Ready for Convention

The Liberals are particularly trying to paper over the cracks in the party before its huge policy convention in October, when a vote of confidence in Mr. Pearson is expected.

Much the same is happening in the federal Conservative party, which has its first annual meeting in 28 months on November 1. The Conservatives are trying to head off another assault on Mr. Diefenbaker's position.

However, there have not been any ringing defences of Mr. Diefenbaker's leadership delivered yet.

Like Mr. Pickersgill, Mr. MacEachen stressed Mr. Pearson's diplomatic efforts to save the Commonwealth in the early stages of the Rhodesian crises.

Both stressed the legislative accomplishments of the party, particularly in the social welfare field, during the past three years.

The prime minister himself went on a national television program this week and extolled the progress of parliament this session.

Mr. MacEachen hit the same theme Friday night.

PEKING (Reuters) — China has warned Indonesia in a note to stop all anti-Chinese activities which it said far exceeded South African racist atrocities in their brutality, it was reported Friday.

The New China news agency reported that the note said: "By docility serving as pawns of U.S. imperialism and its collaborators against China, you can neither add to their strength nor bring yourselves to any good end."

The note was handed to the Indonesian embassy here Thursday, it replied to an Indonesian note May 12 which denied Chinese accusations of involvement in the sacking of the Chinese embassy in Jakarta April 15.

Compulsory Metro Rule in Decade?

By JACK FRY
Legislative Reporter

Municipal participation in the mini-metro capital region board must remain on a voluntary basis for the time being, Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell said Friday.

But he said the time will probably come within the next decade when the people here recognize they will have to solve such problems as urban transportation and hospital financing on a compulsory, regional basis.

In a frank interview with the Colonist, the municipal affairs minister answered several critical questions which were raised by Victoria City Manager Dennis Young during a convention of the Canadian Association of Mayors and Municipalities in Vancouver.

Mr. Young warned Thursday that warring between urban and rural factions could cause a split in the regional board, which could only be mended by the provincial government taking a more active share in the board's proceedings.

He doubted that a lasting union could be achieved if member municipalities are allowed to opt out of various functions, asked whether the board would be eligible for aid from senior governments and whether the board would be held accountable to the ratepayers for its actions.

Mr. Campbell said: "Any trouble ahead in the Capital Region Board would be self-made trouble and I would have to agree that the reasons for it could be parochial thinking."

"However, I'm not too concerned that this will happen because there is widespread public support for the regional philosophy and any new structure of government which rests on an acceptable philosophy has more chance of success than the imposed structures of metro government existing elsewhere."

The municipal affairs minister said: "There is no question of voluntary partnership—that's what it is under the act."

"But as the organism grows, the structure—in the public interest—might require its use on a statutory basis for the problems in urban society in the 1970s, which were well spelled out by the Canadian federation of mayors in four areas of living:

- Urban transportation and communication.
- The setting aside of recreational lands.
- Machinery to combat on a regional basis water and air pollution.
- Provision of the social services in an urban area, such as hospitals, schools and health facilities.

"I think Mr. Young has missed the most significant point of all, that is that the letters patent spell out specifically the financial terms and conditions upon which the function was accepted on a regional basis," the minister said.

The regional board was not established on a compulsory basis because "we think the municipalities are quite capable of defining these problems as they did in their national convention, and once you define the problem you're 50 per cent along in finding the solution," he said.

"In any event, in British Columbia we are not seeking a revolution—we are seeking an evolution in the structure of local government."

"The only way these four problems can be solved is by local government accepting the responsibility. They haven't yet. The government will not force them but the answer is inevitable."

"But at this stage it has to remain voluntary in order for the terms of the agreement to be followed."

Conference Road Show Starts Here

Other stops during the conference will be at Yellowknife, Cold Lake, Winnipeg and Edmonton.

Around Town

Clothes Lost In Park

Victoria parks department is looking for a suitcase full of clothing.

Secretary to Parks Administrator Herbert Warren, Miss Bea Dickens got a call Friday from a woman who didn't identify herself. Had a suitcase full of clothing been picked up in or around Stadacona Park? she asked.

She had been missing bits and pieces of clothing for weeks, the mother said, and the reason only came out the other day.

It seemed that her son (she didn't say how old) and another lad decided to run away. They began loading a suitcase with clothing and one afternoon took off. They got as far as Stadacona Park and stopped to think it over.

They reasoned that there wasn't much future in the whole business so they dropped the suitcase right there and went on to other serious matters.

The household clothing stock is considerably depleted and the parks department is looking for a suitcase.

Unidentified flying objects were seen over Mount Tolmie Friday night.

The objects, six of them, described as flashing black, white, green and blue, were seen by nine-year-old Gordy Betts and his cousin, 17-year-old Christine Betts from the front room window at 1741 Cedar Hill Crossroad.

Every graduating student will be individually introduced to the assembly during Belmont High School graduation exercises which begin at 8 p.m., June 29.

There will be about 88 graduates this year and the speaker will be Sooke School Board chairman John Bartanus.

As each student is introduced he will be given a commemorative school certificate by Principal Archibald Stevenson.

A three-year-old boy, John Hibber, of 27 Beachwood, was admitted to St. Joseph's Hospital Thursday after he was knocked down by a car in the 1700 block Fairfield.

He was reported in good condition Friday.

The lad ran from between parked cars into the path of a car being driven by Pauline Buyko, 22, of 206 Beach. He suffered injuries to his face, arms and legs.

The Victoria Thunderbird fleet meets at 10 a.m. today for its international regatta elimination contest.

The races will decide who travels to the regatta at Seattle on August 5 for the international competition.

Boats will cast off from the Royal Victoria Yacht Club and races will take place in Cadboro Bay.

A unique underwater performance by naval divers of the Pacific Maritime Command will be a highlight of the Armed Forces Day program at Clover Point today.

Several divers will operate in about 15 feet of water off the point while a huge underwater television camera is trained on them.

Using closed circuit TV, visitors on shore will be able to watch the actions of the divers on two 21-inch TV monitors.

Fracture Was Fatal

A 17-year-old youth who was killed in a car accident Tuesday on West Saanich Road died as a result of a fractured skull, a coroner's inquest heard Friday.

John Albert Morgan, of 10364 All Bay Road, Sidney, also suffered other fractures, medical evidence showed.

The youth's body had to be cut from the back seat of the wreck in which three companions were severely injured.

Coroner D. G. Ashby adjourned the inquest indefinitely.

Success Story

Tisdalle Defends Home

It is most unfortunate to make a public display of any home that has had such high recommendations of esteem as the Protestant Orphanage, said John Tisdalle, Social Credit MLA for Saanich, Friday.

Commenting on the present controversy surrounding the Orphanage Mr. Tisdalle said that he has received a number of calls of high recommendation for the orphanage from people who were brought up there and look upon it as their home.

"People have called me to state that they are most offended that the home should be talked about the way it has been."

"This home is a success story in itself. I have never heard a complaint from anybody who has been through it," said Mr. Tisdalle.

"Several businessmen whose life is the home have spoken to me in defence of it," he said.

"Here we have an association of people who have not called on the government for support. They have relied fully on public support and it is commendable that the public has supported them."

CLOSE LOOK

"Our department officials got very busy about this place after the publicity and decided to take a close look at it," said Mr. Tisdalle.

"I say, what about the government homes? They need looking into. I know of one home with hundreds in it where for the three days of the May holiday period they went without clean laundry," he said.

"If the department officials are looking for something to investigate there is plenty for them to investigate in their own homes."

WHY WAIT

"Why should we have to wait for three years for the new hospital here when it could have been put up in a year?" he said.

Bus Crash Kills Five

PORT ROYAL, Va. (AP) — A Greyhound bus and a pickup truck collided near this northeastern Virginia community Friday. Five persons were killed and 11 injured. The bus, headed for Baltimore, from Norfolk, Va., landed some 45 yards off the highway beside a church.

Offensive Nuisance

Drinkers Irk Pub Neighbors

An Esquimalt taxpayer living on Comberford Road is angered by a councillor's statement that people with beards that can be legitimately placed before the police should be encouraged not to call their council members.

The statement was made by Coun. Arthur Meba at an Esquimalt council meeting Tuesday.

He was commenting on complaints of householders living near the Tudor House Hotel that the parking lot of the hotel was being used for "offensive purposes."

"I suggest we write a letter to refer the complaints to the police instead of bugging council members," said Coun. Meba.

It was said that police had made a careful surveillance of the property and found little wrong.

In a statement Friday night,

Mrs. Evelyn Reeve, 526 Comberford the chief complainant, whose property adjoins the hotel car park said that something had to be done about the nuisance.

"Men are coming out of the hotel, standing against their cars and doing the necessary," said Mrs. Reeve.

"Others make love on the car lot and some vomit all over the place."

"We got into our car the other day and found someone had smashed a beer glass over the windshield," she added.

Council Tuesday turned down an application by Mrs. Reeve that the property involved be rezoned from commercial to residential.

Nearly 400 delegates finished week in Victoria Friday. They were entertained at luncheon at the Empress Hotel and toured the district before returning to Vancouver on an afternoon ferry. — (Robin Clarke)

Bonner Fights Back

By JACK FRY
Legislative Reporter

Attorney-General Robert Bonner Friday took strong exception to a bitter, anti-Social Credit article appearing in a magazine from Montreal which is now on sale at Victoria news stands.

The article in the magazine Parade, was written by one-time Victoria and Vancouver newspaperman William McCarthy, and gives his version of how Social Credit gained and maintained power in the provinces of Alberta and British Columbia.

It states that Premier Bennett's "scorn for democratic procedure is matched only by his contempt for opposition. His entire front bench has been known to turn its back during opposition speeches in the legislature."

It continues: "He permits no Hansard record of public debate; the public is not allowed to take notes of what is said; there is no oral question period of Secret ministers. As a final indignity, he often forces the legislature to sit all night."

The true facts, however, Mr. Bonner said, "are that members of all three political parties often turn their backs on public debate, that cabinet ministers authorized by resolution in the nation during debate of their supply and the committee of departmental estimates and ways and means.

"In short, everything which happens in the way of money authorization or legal change is a matter of record," said Mr. Bonner.

"What is missing is a record of conversations surrounding the actions taken, and while political speeches in House debates have a certain curiosity value and are occasionally entertaining and often informative, the words uttered are less important than actions taken or authorized and of these there is a complete record."

NO NOTES

"People are not allowed to take notes in the gallery of any Parliament, including the House of Commons, by resolution of every legislative body in the British Commonwealth," Mr. Bonner said.

"Mr. Speaker has the responsibility for appointing who shall take note of and keeping records of every legislature, and there is a public record kept of all the public business of B.C. as well."

"It's to be found in the Journals of the House, by which every penny of public money is

Refinery To Help Interior

Commercial Transport Minister Robert Bonner flew to Prince George Friday afternoon to take part in the groundbreaking ceremony for a $5,000,000 oil refinery which is being built by Union Oil Company of Canada.

The opening of this refinery will be a big step forward for British Columbia because a larger market will be served by crude oil produced in this province, he said before his departure.

Mr. Bonner also noted that a refinery at Prince George should mean lower gasoline prices because gasoline sold in the interior has to bear a freight cost.

About half of B.C.'s petroleum requirements is now being satisfied by B.C. production. The other half comes from the oil-rich province of Alberta.

"The presence of an oil refinery at Prince George will be a major addition to the economy of the central interior of the province and illustrates how far north the economic frontier of B.C. has been pushed in the last half-dozen years," the minister said.

Steers Take Exception To Journey by Truck

MOOSE JAW—Rancher Peter Desautels bought nine steers here, loaded them on his truck and headed for home at Willowbunch, 80 miles south.

But unknown to him, the tailgate on the truck fell off, and one by one the steers managed to jump off before the truck had gone far.

Mr. Desautels didn't discover his loss until he stopped about 35 miles from the city.

City police, who assisted in the roundup of the reluctant steers, said most of them had been captured.

Big Buying Starts Rall

Starts Rally

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market mounted its rally in three weeks as blue chips accompanied glamor issues in a massive recovery.

Volume swelled to 8,330,000 shares from 5,830,000 Thursday and was the largest since May 19.

The pace setters of the early 1966 rise — color television, other electronics, airlines, aerospace stocks, office equipments — photographic issues and film like — were strong almost from the start. They moved up a big blip, reflecting purchases by big investors.

Blue chips joined in the rebound with gusto. Even American Telephone, which had sunk to one-fourth year low advanced 1½ to 54.

Top steelmakers gained one or two points. Rubbers, copper, tobacco, electrical equipment and utilities participated in the rise.

Telephones Improve

MONTREAL (CP) — Stock fluctuated within narrow limits but the overall trend moved higher at the close.

B.C. Telephone jumped ¼, 61 to 62. Bell Telephone climbed ½ to 52. Bell Brinco ½ to 53.

Mines to the Fore

TORONTO (CP) — Speculative mines, paced by Louvencourt, captured the limelight.

Louvencourt advanced 5 to jumping 10 to 73 cents. Newlins added 4 to 22 cents.

Western oils were strong with Scurry Rainbow ahead 2 to 32. Home A 1 1/4 to 18 1/4 to 32. Home A 1 1/4 to 18 1/4. Banff 1/4 to 15 1/4 and Crutchen 1/4 to 7 1/4.

Industrial were fractional higher. Atlantic Sugar was up to 29, and Dominion Stores 7 1/2 to 22 1/2.

Gold continued to run in heavy profit taking.

Dome lost 1/4 to 44. Glencoe Yellowknife 3/4 to 12 1/2, while Kerr-Adams added 1/4 at 11 1/2.

Falconbridge moved up 1/4 to 91 1/2 in base-metal activity. H. Algom increased 1/4 to 25 while Cominco lost 1/4 to 40 1/2.

What About Polo's Ponies? They'll Tell All on Sunday

The international polo set is famous for its gay, glamorous existence.

But what about the international polo pony set? Is there a life of gaiety and glamor, too?

New Record

You can find out for yourself Sunday when the Vancouver Island Polo and Riding Club holds an open - stable at its grounds off Island View Road.

Officials call it a Day at the Polo Club, and children and adults are invited to come to meet the ponies and watch a charity game in aid of the Solartium Junior League.

There are 38 international ponies hailing from Texas, Hawaii and Argentina at the club's grounds. And they'll be able to pass along all the latest gossip in polo - pony circles - right from the horse's mouth, you might say.

CHARITY MATCH

Sunday's charity match is the second contest of a busy season. A week ago Mrs. W. Woodward, the club's patron, presented the Woodwyn Cup to the Spanish Greens, who defeated Centaur, 5-3, in the first cup match of the season.

The armed services tournament with Col. Dean Freeman of Vancouver acting as a guest captain is scheduled for June 19. The following Sunday a memorial tournament for W. Jack Robertson, the pilot of the plane which crashed outside Tokyo March 4, will be held. Lance Reventlow, of Los Angeles, the son of Woolworth heiress Barbara Hutton, will be a guest captain.

Weather permitting, there will be polo every Sunday through the summer. Other guest captains will be Harry and Roland Hicks from San Francisco, Bill Herndon of Calgary, and Irwin Aisz of Mexico City.

Polo probably originated hundreds of years ago in Arabia, but it wasn't introduced to the west until the British army in India adopted it in the 19th century.

A polo team has four players, each carrying a cane mallet about 4½ feet long. The game, consisting of six 7½-minute chukkers, is played on a field 300 yards long and 200 yards wide. The goals are 24 feet wide, and the ball, made of bamboo or willow, is 3¼ inches in diameter.

The club's ground is located on Island View Road, a right turn off the Patricia Bay highway when going towards the ferry. The parade of ponies begins Sunday at 2:30.

Indians Get No-Hitter To Stay with Sprinters

Cleveland Indians held their own with the sprinting Baltimore Orioles and Detroit Tigers rather spectacularly yesterday—right-hander Sonny Siebert pitched them to a no-hit, 2-0 shutout over Washington Senators.

The 200-pounder allowed only two base runners, one of them the result of an error, but he needed a sensational leaping catch by third-baseman Max Alvis to get the first Cleveland no-hitter since Bob Feller pitched the third of his career on July 1, 1951.

Siebert was within five outs of his no-hitter when Don Lock slammed a line drive which appeared headed for safe territory in left field. Alvis, however, leaped high to make a one-handed stab and Siebert went on from there to retire the next four Senators handily.

NOW 5-3

A 16-game winner last season and now 5-3 for this season, Siebert was throwing so hard in the late innings that his follow-through often carried him several feet off the mound.

Siebert said he went for his no-hitter from the fourth inning. Before the game, Mrs. Siebert had been needing him about the way he had been pitching.

"I told her," Siebert said, "that if you don't get off my back, I'll go out and pitch a no-hitter. Along about the fourth inning I started to think about that."

However, he didn't think it was his best game. He thought he was better in a game last season when he struck out 15 Senators. His whiff total last night was seven.

Wally Bunker didn't quite duplicate Siebert's effort but the Baltimore right-hander kept the Orioles out front with a 2-0, 4-hit win over Boston Red Sox. He had a no-hitter for six innings.

The Tigers stayed in close attendance, routing the New York Yankees, 6-2, for their sixth straight victory.

straight victory as southpaw Hank Aguirre finally came up with his first complete game of the season.

Meanwhile, Sandy Koufax pitched Los Angeles Dodgers into the National League lead by stopping San Francisco Giants, 6-1, with a four - hit 11-strikeout pitching performance.

It was the starry southpaw's 11th win, highest in major league baseball this season, and it reduced his earned - run average to 1.40, also the best in the major leagues.

Result left the clubs tied in games won and lost but the Dodgers held a small percentage - point edge.

BOTH LOSE

The third - place Pittsburgh Pirates and the fourth - place Philadelphia Phillies both lost to remain two and a half games out.

Catcher Tim McCarver clubbed four successive hits, scored twice and drove in two teammates to lead St. Louis Cardinals to a 5-4 win over the Phillies.

And Atlanta Braves, still hampering the ball, ran their win streak to seven games by clobbering the Pirates, 8-2.

And there was some great pitching in the other two National League games.

national League games, most significantly by Dick Rusteck, a rookie pitching his first major league game.

Rusteck, a 24-year-old southpaw who was leading the International League in just about every pitching department, pitched New York Mets to a four-hit, 5-0 shutout over Cincinnati Reds. He struck out four, walked only one and had a no-hitter going until the fifth inning.

It wasn't quite the same for rookie Ken Holtzman of the Chicago Cubs although he allowed only one runner to get to second base. That happened in the 10th inning, and Jim Wynn promptly went the rest of the way to give Houston Astros a 1-0 win.

Dick Farrell pitched the first nine for the Astros but the win went to Ron Taylor for one scoreless inning.

Nine Break Par Palmer Shoots 73

GRAND BLANC, Mich. (AP)—Three birdies on the first four holes coming home Friday allowed Phil Rodgers to tie Fred Marti and Jim Ferrier for the first-round lead in the $100,000 Buick open golf tournament.

Each fired a two-under-par 70 and the score was the highest opening round leading total since Billy Casper and Gay Brewer shot the same score in the Tournament of Champions eight weeks ago.

The 7,280-yard Warwick Hills course, longest on the pro circuit, was soggy from all-day rain Thursday which forced a one-day delay in the first round.

Northerly winds of 15 miles an hour swept the course most of the day and helped dry it, giving afternoon players a break.

But only six others—Kernell, Zarlery, Julius Boros, Sam Snead, Al Geiberger, Dave Marr and Roger Ginsberg—were able to break par. All had 73. Zarlery and Boros were the only players to turn the trick in the morning.

Defending champion Tony Lema, seeking his third straight title here, zoomed eight strokes off the pace with a 78.

Palmer also missed an 18-foot eagle putt on the 14th and settled for an opening - round score of 73.

Yanks Try Again

From AP Reports

New York Yankees, so far unable to balance their record for the season, yesterday tried something that used to do the trick for them in other years. They made a trade with the Kansas City Athletics.

Going to the Yankees are righthander Fred Talbot and catcher Bill Bryan. In return, the Athletics received pitchers Bill Stafford and Gil Blanco and outfielder Roger Repoz.

It was the 19th deal between the two clubs but the first for some time.

COULD BE HELP
Talbot, 24, a former member of the Chicago White Sox, had a 10-12 record with Kansas City last year and was 4-4 at the time of the trade. Bryan, a left-handed hitting catcher, was batting only .132 but had a .252 average in 108 games last season.

Repoz, a .220 hitter in limited action last year, has a .349 average but has been to bat only 43 times. Stafford, a right-hander, had just been recalled from Toledo and Blanco, a 20-year-old southpaw, had been pitching for Columbus of the Southern League.

In other major league baseball moves yesterday, San Francisco Giants sold veteran righthander Bob Shaw to New York Mets and Philadelphia Phillies reinstated veteran righthander Roger Craig and sent Gary Wagner to San Diego.

NFL Sticks To Original Expansion

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Football League still plans to go ahead with a 16th team in 1967 as originally outlined before peace came to professional football.

New Orleans, Cincinnati, Seattle, Portland, Ore., and Phoenix are the leading possibilities. Unless some other cities move into the picture before 1970, four of this quartet could be in the league by that time.

Boston and Houston also made a pitch for an NFL franchise at the May meetings in Washington. Although the peace announcement did not rule out future two-club cities, it was believed that would be the case.

COULD NOT AGREE
The Houston Oilers, unable to agree on terms with Judge Roy Hofheinz, principal owner of the Astro-dome, played in Rice Stadium last year.

Owner Bud Adams of the Oilers insists he is sticking with that deal. Hofheinz urged the NFL to move into the Astro-dome during the recent Washington meetings.

It took United four games to win the championship in 1952. It won the second half of the league and was supposed to play North Shore, the first-half winners, in a best-of-three final. But one game was drawn, and it wasn't until July 5 that

STRONG BET
New Orleans is regarded as a strong possibility for 1967 along with Cincinnati. The NFL is committed to expanding to 16 clubs by 1967. The American Football League is reported willing to wait until 1968 before adding a 10th team.

When the two leagues start playing regular season inter-league games in 1970, there probably will be 28 teams, 14 in each league. This could involve adding an 11th and 12th team to the present AFL and shifting two NFL clubs.

United Hopes to End 14-Year Frustration

The last time a Victoria team won any Pacific Coast Soccer League silverware, you could buy two dozen oranges for 39 cents. Two 15-ounce tins of tomato juice for a quarter, and fullback John Pickburn, Sid League, and Victoria Tyees won turned out championship lacrosse and professional baseball teams.

"The year, you say, would be about 1893?"
Well, not quite. It was 1952 when Victoria United won the P.C.S.L. playoff championship, and that's the only time a Victoria team has collected any of the league's trophies.

PLAY COLUMBUS
But this Sunday, the 1965-66 edition of the United goes to Vancouver to play Columbus in the playoff final at Callister Park. And with two B.C. all-stars, United figures it has a good chance to win the Top Star Trophy and the $500 which goes with it.

United will play Dave Stothard, who captained B.C. All-stars against Tottenham Hotspur Wednesday, at wing-half, and all-star Barry Sadler in goal.

The club, however, will be without Jim Schütz who is away with the army and Tom Locke who has a suspension. United will have Tony Quinn and Don McIntosh at fullback, and Bill Hamilton and George Hamilton and George Paul on the half-line with Stothard.

PROBABLE FORWARDS
Forwards will probably be Bert Soutar, Ike MacKay, Jim Jamieson, Peter Gooding and Dunc McCaig with Harold Holroyd, Len Anderson and Junior Dave Swanson in reserve. Columbus will be strengthened by the return of Tony Catta and Errol Crossman who have recovered from injuries.

But United is still riding on a cloud after beating Vancouver Firefighters, the Canadian champs, 3-0, in the semi-final of the playoffs.

Three busloads of fans are accompanying the team Sunday, and there's a waiting list in case of cancellations.

FOUR GAMES
It took United four games to win the championship in 1952. It won the second half of the league and was supposed to play North Shore, the first-half winners, in a best-of-three final. But one game was drawn, and it wasn't until July 5 that

U.S. College Students Help Crusade

A bus named Glad rolled into Victoria this week, loaded with students from the Church of Christ's junior college in Henderson, Tenn.

"We're here to assist in the Campaign for Christ," said Steve May, a third-year student whose home is near Hamilton, Ont.

"And to edify the church," added Arnold Shattuck, a sophomore from Chattanooga, Tenn.

The campaign is being directed by the Victoria Church of Christ, 1460 Shelbourne, assisted by several related churches in Canada and the U.S.

Speaker for the campaign will be Carl Spain of Abilene, Texas, professor of Bible and religious education at Abilene Christian College and preacher at Hillcrest Church of Christ in Abilene.

He will speak at 8 p.m. Sunday during the crusade in the Oak Bay Junior High School auditorium.

Atheism Threat To Canada

TORONTO (CP) — Non-Canadians and atheists are threatening Canada's future, says a booklet published by the Metro Christian Women's Council on Education.

The booklet calls for Bible teaching in every school grade and blames non-Canadians for wanting to drop religious instruction.

"While there is a demand by a small, but vocal group who are mainly non-Canadians to abolish religious instruction, there is a stronger and more general demand by Canadians to improve the teaching of the Bible."

THE VOICE OF ONE

By REV. DR. FRANK S. MORLEY

Unthinking people give easy, cruel answers to questions. One sees this when discussing the Reformation.

Not only ignorant men but scholars err this way. Crane Brinton in an outline of Western thought, Ideas and Men, gives as unfair a statement of Calvinism as one will read.

William Pauck falls into the trap when he claims that the difference between Protestantism and Roman Catholicism is so profound it seems almost impossible to recognize them as two forms of one Christianity. So also does Karl Adam, who in "The Spirit of Catholicism" traces a connection between the revolt from the Church in the Reformation, from Christ in the 18th century, and from God in the 19th.

Necessary to God

Luther held, like Cyprian, "Outside the Christian Church is no truth, no Christ, no blessedness." He believed the Church was not only necessary to man, but to God himself, which good Pauline doctrine, Luther's church was a pastor's organization for the preaching of the word and the administration of the sacraments. Calvin emphasized its communal and twofold nature, composed of the visible and invisible body of the elect, existing where the word was sincerely preached and heard.

Church Distinctions

In contradistinction to this, and the testimony of St. Jerome. The point is that absolute distinctions claiming that the Roman Catholic Church is a community of priests and Protestants a community of laymen, "priesthood of believers," that one exalts the church and the other minimizes the Church, or that one is based on Scripture and the other on tradition, simply will not stand up.

Mr. Spain has travelled extensively and has taken two tours through Iron Curtain countries. In 1957 he and several other preachers from the church visited Russia, Poland, Norway, Denmark, Germany and Sweden.

In the summer of 1958 he returned to Poland for an extended visit with members of the Churches of Christ there. In the summer of 1964 he toured Central and South America, visiting Churches of Christ in Argentina, Brazil, the Canal Zone and Chile.

Simple Christians

The Church of Christ is a non-denominational body of people who claim to be nothing more than just simple New Testament Christians.

"We are in fellowship with millions of others around the world of like faith," says Mr. Spain.

Bill Smith, who drove the bus from Tennessee and acted as everything from mentor to den mother to his fellow students, had something to say about the integration problem in the U.S.

"If people lived by the Bible, it would eliminate the problem," he said.

He added that there were many schools in the south which had been integrated with no trouble.

"You don't hear much about them," he said. "It's the troublesome ones that get into the news."

The students last summer assisted in a crusade in North Bay, Ont.

The featured speaker at the 12-day campaign, Carl Spain is a native of Chattanooga, Tenn. He has been preaching since his student days in 1934.

MOLIS DEGREES

He holds a BA degree in Bible and History from Abilene Christian College, an MA and BD from Southern Methodist University and a ThD from Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary.

Promise Topic Of Reading

"Great peace have they which love thy law: and nothing shall offend them." This promise from Psalms will be part of the responsive reading at First Church of Christ Scientist this Sunday. Subject of the Bible lesson is God the Preserver of Man.

The lesson includes the story of Daniel and his three fellow captives whose spiritual steadfastness in worshipping only God preserved them from harm in the lion's den and the "fiery furnace."

Among related passages to be read from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, by Mary Baker Eddy, are these lines: "The central fact of the Bible is the superiority of spiritual over physical power . . . The calm and exalted thought or spiritual apprehension is at peace."

Pilgrims With Rifles

LOURDES, FRANCE (UPI) — Some 35,000 soldiers from 15 nations will participate in a three-day international military pilgrimage to Lourdes starting today.

France, with more than 30,000 men, is sending the largest contingent. Other representatives of military units are expected from the U.S., Austria, Belgium, Britain, Dahomey, Denmark, Holland, West Germany, Ireland, Italy, Ivory Coast, Luxembourg, Spain and Switzerland.

World Revolves About Faith

Henry Grooten is a 16-year-old student of Mount View high school. He attends the Christian Reformed Church at 611 Avenue Road in Holland and came to Canada in 1958. He lives with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Grooten at 781 Macdonald Ave.

By HENRY GROOTEN, DORAT

We are living in a religious world. All our actions can be traced back to a religious motive. Some of these motives reflect a humanistic of life or a pragmatic view. This is a world of confusion. Claims and counter-claims are made daily. Headlines flash the God is Dead theory. But it all seems to be a very unstable way of life.

Does the humanistic view of life really give satisfaction through its man-made god? Doesn't the humanist believe in the goodness of man and that man evolves to be a better man in the future? I really fail to find an improvement of human nature. Think of concentration camps in Germany, think of the persecution of the Jewish people, the race riots and think of the world in crime all over the world. It seems to me this god of humanism is dead or almost.

We also have the god of science. Everything is based on the belief that science will solve the problems of human misery. Man is so powerful (and he really is) that he tries to prove everything scientifically. Let's take for instance the beginning of our earth. Claims are made that human beings have evolved from the monkey.

Links and proofs have not yet been found but all things are pre-supposed (which is also faith) and claims and counter-claims are almost made daily by this scientific research.

We are also living in a dynamic, pragmatic society. Only what is useful is good enough for us.

What was useful yesterday does not necessarily mean that it will be useful today or tomorrow. The men in the boat of pragmatism are rocked back and forth without any real sense of value.

Then there is Christianity — a religion based on the Bible. Christianity has been in the world for approximately 2,000 years in its present form. Many a contradiction is based on the Bible. The rules we find in the Bible were here yesterday and for the Christian believer they are here today and will be here tomorrow.

It is an all-sunday religion not only for Sunday but the God of the Christian demands to be served also the rest of the week. The Bible says the earth is the Lord's footstool and that everything belongs to the Lord. That I have to work to the best of my ability to develop the talents the Lord has given me. It gives me a solid foundation . . . a straight course in my life.

I know the do's and don'ts in life. I only have to ask myself do I do this to the honor and glory of my God? If I look around me and see all the man-made gods and my own Christian beliefs then I sincerely pity those people who are wandering in this world without any solid foundation and I feel very richly blessed to be brought up in a home where they fear the Lord.

Retired Minister Repeating Sermons

A businessman once asked an Anglican clergyman of the Ottawa diocese why he believed in God.

"Will you tell us," the man asked, "why you believe in God?"

"Yes, I will," the clergyman answered.

"And I did," said the Rev. Dr. F. Frank Salmon this week.

SERIES

The result was a series of sermons he gave in Ottawa Cathedral 40 years ago. When he later was called to Holy Trinity in Philadelphia, the sermons were published, but the book is now out of print.

Now retired in Victoria, he has been asked to give the sermons in Christ Church Cathedral.

"They will be given on the second Sunday of each month, starting at 11 a.m. this Sunday, for the balance of the year. There are seven in all."

BASIS

First in the series is Belief in God. Dr. Salmon will examine the questions, Is There a God? and What kind of Being can we believe God to be?

"The idea is to get back to basics," he said.

Dr. Salmon was born in Reading, England, and was ordained in 1907 at St. Paul's by the Bishop of London. A. F.

Dr. E. F. Salmon

Wilmington-Ingman, to whom one of the towers of Christ Church Cathedral is dedicated. For awhile he was a curate in London and in 1909 came to Canada.

DEAN

He served in Toronto diocese and in country parishes for 12 years. He spent 18 years at Ottawa Cathedral and was made dean of the cathedral. In 1938 he went to Philadelphia. He retired as rector of Holy Trinity there in 1961.

Before coming to Victoria, for several years he was honorary assistant at Trinity Church in Saint John, N.B., the church of his son-in-law, Archdeacon Arthur Caulfield.

His son, Read Salmon, is a teacher at Shawigan Lake School.

SCHEDULE

Editor Speaks Out

Methodists Double-Talked

By LOUIS CASSELS

United Press International

Methodists were told by one of their own this week that it's time for them to fish or cut bait on the question of church union.

The man who said out loud what many Protestant leaders have been saying privately was Arthur J. Moore, Jr., editor of the widely-circulated magazine World Outlook.

Moore said in a bluntly-worded editorial that Methodist leaders have been "stalling" participants in the Consultation on Church Union, which is trying to effect 25,000,000 members.

FAILURE

While attending COCU meetings, he said, Methodist leaders have been quietly passing the word to their own constituency that "the whole thing need not be taken too seriously."

"The strategy in this seems clear," said Moore. "It was obviously the hope of some in the Methodist church that the consultation would die a natural death and that we could keep happy both those who wish church union and those who are wedded to the denominational status quo."

"But it is increasingly clear that this strategy has backfired and, like many clever schemes based on duplicity, it has alienated both groups it was intended to placate."

Instead of pussyfooting around the issue any longer, Moore said, Methodists should plunge immediately into an honest, open debate on the pros and cons of the far-reaching church merger proposed by COCU.

"It is very likely that when we do start this serious debate, we will all be pleasantly surprised," he said. "For what such a debate is basically about is what God wants of his church today . . . that is what any serious exploration of church union is all about. And that, surely, is what Christianity is all about."

"FOOT-DRAWING"

Methodist "foot-dragging" in the COCU negotiations has long been a sore subject with leaders of other participating denominations who are eager to move ahead with the planned merger.

At a COCU meeting at Dallas in early May, Methodist delegates were informed in a stormy closed session that other denominations were prepared to proceed without them if necessary. The Methodist delegates chose to remain, and began taking a really active role in COCU debates for the first time.

remote communities who have never seen a car or a road," says Isla Service, director of the B.C. and Yukon division of the Canadian Junior Red Cross, sponsor of the project. "And at the same time there are children in Vancouver who have no idea how people in their own province live. This project will be of mutual benefit."

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C. (CP)—An experiment aimed at promoting understanding between Indians and whites is being conducted by two schools 180 miles apart.

Students at Sir Richard McBride elementary school here have been linked with Indian students at the remote Gifford Bay school on Simoom Sound, 180 miles northwest of Vancouver.

LETTERS FIRST

At first the students will exchange letters. Later they plan to exchange tape recordings and photo albums and eventually have students from one school visit students at the other.

MUTUAL BENEFIT

Planned by 50 students from all parts of the province, the project would seek to have 100 schools in isolated Indian communities paired with non-Indian schools.

TORONTO (CP)—Education Minister William Davis of Ontario has announced a grant of $52,000 to the Great Theatre's Hour Company to help finance its tour of Ontario secondary schools in the 1966-67 academic year. The tour program, started in 1964, presents live theatre to Grades 11, 12 and 13, with a separate junior program for Grade 9 to 10 students.

OTTAWA (CP)—A computer expected to save the defence department $1,000,000 a year in personal costs is to be installed by the department here next summer. It will keep pay records of more than 100,000 servicemen—work now done by 1,400 persons.

The Salvation Army band will give the second of a series of concerts of religious music at 8:15 p.m. Sunday in Centennial Square. Song sheets will be provided to enable the audience to sing along with the choir and band. The concerts are scheduled for every Sunday evening for 11 more weeks.

Music Notes

Image-Making Silly Obsession

By WILLIAM THOMAS

In this age of awareness, nothing seems so gauche or so terrifying as to be caught with your public image down.

This even applies to the arts. Somewhere at most concerts or festivals there is sure to be a public relations consultant hovering in the foyer or green room helping to guide the silly or ensuring the monumental flop a decent burial.

Naturally, this image creation business can get out of hand, creating a distorted image.

JUNKETS

A recent article in the Canadian Composer says "One of the most encouraging signs of the times is the growing awareness of the importance of the projection of a cultural image of Canada abroad."

The editorial then praises the Canada Council for sponsoring promising Canadian artists on trips to show how we are on a Kultur Kick.

With the financing of cultural projects in Canada at a near starvation level, it's hard to believe the Canada Council can justify spending cash on junkets to convince Europeans we are not still hunting the mighty Bison.

PROMISES

Many European governments offer handsome grants to their orchestras and encourage their musicians to stay home with scholarships.

In Victoria, our symphony operates on dribbles of cash from the Canada Council and promises of coming largesse from Premier Bennett.

We will soon lose two promising violinists in Mark Butler and Vivienne Abbott. There is no inducement for them to stay here.

AT HOME

The Canada Council would better serve music in Canada if what meagre funds it has, were spent on Canadian orchestras and concert tours at home for promising musicians.

If young artists were touring Canada regularly then, both the listening public and the musicians would benefit.

What is being done now is negligently and inadequate.

Music School Adds To Staff, Program

By WILLIAM THOMAS

Ink is hardly dry on examination papers at the Victoria School of Music and already John Graeme has announced plans for an expanded program in the 1966-67 season and a major addition to the staff of the school.

Effective July 2, Rodney Webster will join the faculty as assistant to Robin Wood, who is director of the school.

In addition to assuming administrative responsibilities, Mr. Webster will continue to teach music and theory and will prepare a full prospectus for the growing school.

MORE STAFF

Mr. Webster will continue his choral work with the Victoria Choral Society, the Victoria Symphony and the Amity Singers.

President of the school, John Graeme, also announced a recruitment program for additional staff to cope with the expanding enrolment.

At present, a voice department is being organized and a department head will be named soon.

ORCHESTRA

Mr. Graeme explained the school will form a student orchestra next term with accents on chamber playing, ensemble work and small orchestra technique. Mr. Webster, who has been a pupil of Otto-Werner Mueller, probably will lead this project with Jean Angers, Hans Siegrist and Robin Wood offering coaching to the young musicians.

In contract negotiations with the three members of the Victoria School of Music Trio, Mr. Graeme has emphasized the need for more rehearsal time and provision has been made for the three players to spend at least two mornings each week in developing their repertoire.

The school's president explained: "This trio has gained great public acceptance and we feel the trio should be afforded every opportunity to develop artistically."

There is a strong probability the Victoria School of Music will be included in plans for the music program to be offered at

B.C.-Born Dancer Guest Teacher

A British Columbia dancer who has achieved fame in European ballet will return to Canada this month as a guest teacher with Montreal's Les Grands Ballets Canadiens.

Norman Thomson began his career in Powell River, then went on to join the Sadlers Wells and Royal Ballets in London. More recently he has been teaching and doing choreography on the Continent.

Fernand Nault, co-artistic director with Anton Dolin of Les Grands Ballets, has been invited by the American Ballet Theatre to take part in its tour of Russia this month. He was for 20 years a member of the American company.

Mr. Nault will teach professional classes before the members of the two renowned Russian companies, the Bolshoi in Moscow and the Kirov in Leningrad. In addition, he will dance the part of Mother

Simone in the ballet La Fille Mal Gardée — one of his great personal hits.

After Leningrad, the American company will tour other Russian cities while Mr. Nault returns to Montreal for summer classes of the Academy and for rehearsals for the 1966-67 season of Les Grands Ballets Canadiens.

Besides being a guest teacher with Les Grands Ballets, Mr. Thomson will choreograph a ballet for the Workshop, to take place in Montreal Aug. 10 and 11.

African game of bau-bau brings laughter to U.S. senator Robert Kennedy and Tanzanian president Julius Nyerere at Dar es Salaam meeting.—(AP)

South Africans Lash Kennedy; May Be Banned

JOHANNESBURG (UPI)—The influential pro-government newspaper, Die Transvaler, Friday dropped a strong hint to Sen. Robert Kennedy, who Thursday declared "I will return," that he would not be allowed back in South Africa.

The newspaper, which usually reflects official government thinking, said that if the South African Foundation has invited the New York democrat back in 1967, then the foundation "should be dissolved."

"A single American circus display on South African soil was more than enough. We definitely don't want a second," MAJOR INTEREST

Kennedy said as he left South Africa for his visit to Tanzania that he had accepted an invitation from the foundation and other unspecified organizations to return.

"I intend to return next year definitely," he told reporters at the airport. "I plan to return and to continue to take a major interest in South Africa."

Die Transvaler said Kennedy's visit was "characterized by a spirit of hysteria and hero-worship. The central figure of the circus was a man with vast political ambition with plenty of money in his pocket, and virtually nothing else."

DRIED CHAFF

The newspaper condemned Kennedy's speeches as "nothing more than dried-out chaff. They consisted of empty liberalistic slogans which could not inspire or stimulate any thinking man."

The newspaper said, "Let us say frankly that one can only have the deepest sympathy for the American people if Sen. Kennedy becomes their future president."

The non-white newspaper Post, in a front page comment, said, "Bobby Kennedy, the supercharged senator, went through South Africa like a whirlwind. Never has any visitor—VIP, world statesman or pop idol—made such an impression on so many minds and hearts."

Hue Controlled By Riot Police

HUE, South Viet Nam (Reuters)—A task force of 400 tough riot police took over this dissident northern city in the name of the South Vietnamese government Friday, evicting local policemen and declaring martial law at night.

Armed with tear gas, night sticks and wicker shields, they moved into provincial and regional police headquarters in a swift takeover of the city shortly after noon.

Local policemen recently have stood by as demonstrators roamed Hue and sacked American property in a Buddhist-backed campaign against the war-torn country's military junta.

A secret government radio station broadcast an order imposing martial law on the city between 9 p.m. and 6 a.m. daily. No incidents were reported.

Before the police moved into the city, Hue was reported almost paralyzed by the latest form of anti-government protest—the moving of thousands of family altars into the streets to block traffic.

Inside Saigon's main pagoda, 15 Buddhists began a 48-hour hunger strike in a new anti-government protest. They said they are following Thich Tri Quang's example.

Two Rob Bar

Plane Aids Escape

SITKA, Alaska (AP)—Two men who arrived by chartered plane held up the Pioneer Bar Friday and escaped with $2,500 after a 130-mile flight in which they held the pilot at pistol point.

Pilot Ken Locken told The Sitka Sentinel, the robbers offered him $1,000 to fly them to Seattle when he pretended to be amenable to their plans. Instead he flew slowly to use up fuel, meantime cajoling his passengers.

With authorities in close pursuit by plane, Locken brought his aircraft down near the beach a few miles from Ketchikan.

POLICE START CHASE

The robbers dashed into the woods. While police chased the men on foot, Locken flew on into Ketchikan.

Police said the two men walked into the bar on Sitka's Front Street at 8:30 a.m. They bound bartender Dale Cummings and Harold Kitka, a patron, and put them in a back room.

They took the $2,500, called a taxicab and drove to a nearby plane float where their charter pilot had been told to wait. The plane had been chartered from the Channel Flying Service at Juneau, ostensibly for a business trip that included a Sitka stop.

Mainland Pier Proposed For Oil, Coal Pipelines

Industry in British Columbia is studying the possibility of building a $20,000,000 pipeline in the vicinity of Sturgeon Pier in the Lower Mainland for the automated loading of coal and petroleum products aboard 100,000-ton supertankers.

Commercial Transport Minister Robert Bonner said at a press conference Friday he is in the middle of detailed discussions with private companies about the possibility of building such a pier, as a first step towards modernizing B.C.'s West Coast ports.

"We are reasonably satisfied the concept is feasible and there has been some engineering attention given to the question," he said.

AUTOMATIC

Mr. Bonner's idea is that supertankers, double the size of the maximum capacity ships which can now be handled by the port of Vancouver, could be moored on either side of a jetty jutting seaward from Sturgeon Banks, at the mouth of the Fraser River.

Here they could be automatically loaded with petroleum or even coal shipped through pipeline across the province from coal fields in the southeastern tip of B.C.

"This would be a first step towards a supertanker port in B.C. It would represent, to my view, what could later be considered a key development," the minister said.

MODERNIZE

"We have got to move on two fronts, to keep up to date on existing facilities and develop additional facilities for Canada's gateway to the Pacific."

Fooled by Pilot

Pilot Locken told police that once back in the plane the robbers pulled pistols and ordered a quick takeoff. That's when he learned they weren't ordinary customers.

Ketchikan police said the two men were seen headed for a house about 21 miles north of Ketchikan.

Buzz Of Polisher Brings Bomb Expert

SPOKANE (AP)—There was a buzzing, whirling noise inside the suitcase at Spokane International Airport.

A bomb-disposal expert from Fairchild Air Force Base was summoned. The suitcase was taken far from the terminal building and jerked open with a rope.

Among the clothing was a buzzing, whirling, battery-operated shoe polisher.

Douglas Rose, equipment operator, left, and Clifford Bate, maintenance supervisor, look at broken glass removed from Thetis and Beaver Lakes this week. Two divers worked for 2½ days and came up with eight buckets of dangerous debris.—(Robin Clarke)

Jagged Lake Glass Threat to Kiddies

The stand taken by Recreation Minister Kiernan on "throw-away" pop bottles is heartily endorsed by Victoria Parks Administrator Herbert Warren.

"This business of broken bottles is a very serious problem in our park and beach areas. When you stop and think what shards of razor-sharp, jagged glass can do to the feet of small children—need I say more?" said Mr. Warren.

The recreation minister issued a blunt warning Thursday that the government might be forced to pass legislation banning the sale of "throw-away" bottles of soft-drink and beer firms.

As long as bottles are refundable children will pick them up and bring them in, the minister reasoned. If and when they are of no value they will be left and many of them smashed.

The city parks chief agreed.

"What the beverage industry should do is raise the value of returned bottles. Up to this point the industry has just ignored the problem created by broken bottles and the danger they pose," he said.

Mr. Warren said his department has had skin divers working all this week cleaning the glass out of the beaches at city parks at Thetis Lake, Beaver Lake, Elk Lake and elsewhere. So far they have filled two bushel baskets with shards.

"It's hard to believe but some people even smash gallon jugs and throw them into the water," Mr. Warren said indignantly.

The parks department has seriously considered closing off beach areas in the winter time to prevent drinking parties from entering and causing this hazard. The obstacle is that it is an expensive business and departmental estimates just don't run to that kind of prohibition.

Cabinet Order Eases Latoria Drought Fears

The provincial cabinet Friday authorized formation of an improvement district in the Happy Valley area, to be known as the East Latoria Road Waterworks District.

The order approved a petition which was submitted by a number of residents in the area.

The new waterworks district will be responsible for the acquisition, maintenance and operation of waterworks equipment.

TRUSTEES
Mrs. Dorothy Kathleen Mullin, 591 Latoria Road, was named as returning officer for an election of three trustees, one of whom will serve until 1970, another until 1968 and one until 1966.

William Mullin, 591 Latoria Road, said that the water in the wells was beginning to diminish and residents in the 20 houses along the road were not sure if the warm weather would bring another outbreak of hepatitis or even typhoid.

The petition was circulated so that piped water could be brought in as quickly as possible.

"We are ready to go ahead with the work almost at once," said Mr. Mullin.

Petition Gets Action

MPs Push Vote for Shut-Ins

A resolution has been placed on the order paper of the House of Commons by Esquimalt-Saanich MP George Chatterton asking the government to amend the Canada Elections Act so that the aged, the sick and the infirm can exercise their franchise.

Mr. Chatterton's private members' resolution has been seconded by Victoria MP David Groos.

The resolution is the result of a 5,000-signature petition presented to Mr. Chatterton demanding that action be taken by the government to provide mobile polling booths for hospitals of more than 50 beds so that patients could exercise their vote.

The resolution reads that the Standing Committee on Privileges and Elections be empowered to amend the Canada Elections Act so as to make it possible for all persons who are physically disabled or infirm or who are committed to any institution for the sick, aged or infirm to exercise their franchise in federal elections.

"The government will most likely refer this resolution to the standing committee," said Mr. Chatterton.

"But if they don't it will come before parliament."

A petition was circulated in the Greater Victoria area last year for presentation to parliament protesting the fact that the Canada Elections Act was so worded that a sick or aged voter had to go to an established polling booth to vote.

The petition recommended the establishment of mobile polling booths for the use of the sick and aged.

Mrs. Judy Nyquist, who organized the petition, said that the news that some action was at last being taken was "wonderful".

"It shows the people who signed the petition that their efforts were not in vain and that petitions do sometimes get action," she said.

"I would like to thank most sincerely everybody who helped with this," she added.

Chatterton Turns Student In Speed Reading, French

Esquimalt-Saanich MP George Chatterton has gone back to school.

He is taking courses in Ottawa in fast reading and in conversation French.

Mr. Chatterton said he has so many documents to study it has been necessary for him to speed up his reading rate.

With 12 other MPs, he studies for two hours each morning.

"I should be able to triple my reading speed by the time I have finished the course," he said Friday.

"I am about half way through it now."

His conversational French course is along the same lines as that being offered by the federal government to civil servants.

"I never learned French in school," said Mr. Chatterton.

"But I would recommend this course to all elementary schools. Instead of introducing it as a compulsory subject in the high schools, a course like this should be started at Grade 1."

The costs for the courses are being borne by the MPs.

City, CPR Partnership

Convention Centre in Wind

By A. H. MURPHY

A city-CPR partnership in a convention centre for Greater Victoria was a strong possibility Friday following announcement of a $4,000,000 refurbishing job on the Empress Hotel.

E. C. Flitt, vice-president and general manager of Canadian Pacific Hotels Ltd. said his company would welcome discussions with the city regarding a site for a centre "on the grounds of the Empress Hotel."

Mayor Toome said the statement of what was to be done to the Empress made it possible "for formal consultations regarding a convention facility."

PREVIOUS TALKS
Mr. Flitt's remarks indicated that there have been previous conversations with the mayor regarding a CPR-city link for a convention centre.

There were, he said, certain areas on the Empress grounds which might be considered as a site "without impairing the beauty or altering our gardens or destroying our trees or interfering with the hotel's operation."

The potential site, he added, was on Belleville Street.

The improvement program on the Empress will extend over four years and will be confined to the main wing. It will begin as soon as the major part of the 1966 tourist season is over, Mayor Toome said. Target date for completion is December, 1969.

FIRST JOB
First big job, and one which will cost one-quarter of the total, will be to change the wiring for alternating current.

This will enable all rooms to be fitted with radio and television.

The program which will be planned so that work can be done in the "off" season with a minimum of disruption to the hotel's operation, will include:

NEW BOILERS

● Removal of the power house and stack at the rear of the hotel and installation of "package" low-pressure steam boilers installed at ground level in the hotel.

● Increase in the parking area to more than double present capacity. This will be done without removal of trees. As much as possible of the "green" around the hotel will be retained.

● Complete renewal and air-conditioning of the main guest and meeting rooms and changes to make the coffee shop operation more efficient.

MOTOR ENTRANCE

● A new motor entrance on Douglas Street leading to a long, canopied passageway below the conservatory.

● Installation of modern elevators.

● Use of the Belleville Street entrance as an assembly area for tour buses.

Conformation and appearance of the building will remain substantially the same, he said, and changes will be mostly internal.

In reply to a question Mr. Flitt said that the Humboldt Street wing of the hotel will "remain operative" but will not be changed, George Wilkinson, vice-president of Marwell Construction, which will do the work, said that improved electrical and heating installations will make for more efficiency in the Humboldt wing.

Graduates

Praise, Advice Flood Students

By BILL STAVDAL

Twelve years of study was climaxed Friday night for graduates of four Greater Victoria high schools.

Glowing in new suits and formal gowns, they heard themselves eulogized by distinguished British Columbians at their schools' annual recognition ceremonies.

Grads marched in processional ceremonies at Mt. Douglas, Mount View, Oak Bay and Victoria high schools.

Two schools — Mount View and Mt. Douglas — honored outstanding students.

The others will hold separate ceremonies later this month.

Guest speakers were University of Victoria president Dr. Malcolm Taylor at Mount View, university registrar Dean Ronald Jeffels at Mt. Douglas, deputy education minister Dr. Neil Perry at Oak Bay, and deputy provincial secretary L. J. Wallace at Vic High.

Dr. Taylor told Mount View grads that the only person really educated today is one who continues to learn a his life.

He made a strong appeal to girls to set their sights high.

"What are you planning to do with your mind?" he demanded.

"I think that the idea so many of you girls have had—that you would plan to work for a couple of years and that would be it—is an idea that belongs to the past and must now be discarded," he said.

Outmoded ideas about career women have kept females from really developing their minds and have deprived society of the enormous brainpower that women represent," he said.

Dr. Taylor paid tribute to the teaching profession.

"From kindergarten to university, this is the noblest profession . . ." he said.

Dean Jeffels also praised teachers in his talk at Mt. Douglas high.

"The rewards of teachers have not usually been in material goods or creature comforts," he said. "Their pleasures and satisfaction come from observing and assisting that strange alchemy whereby boys and girls, men and women, are transformed through their own intellectual curiosity."

At Oak Bay high, Dr. Perry called on young people to employ "cold heads and warm hearts" in remaking the partnership between English and French-speaking Canada.

Four outstanding grads of Mount Douglas High School exchange gifts after receiving awards at the school's recognition ceremony Friday night. From left they are top scholar Ed ward Lord, best citizen Keith Thompson and Janice Newton and Stephen Hume, who shared the sportsmanship trophy.

outstanding in leadership; and Jacqueline Gavin, tops in achievement in non-academic studies. At centre is David Hutchings, leader in boys' sportsmanship. — (Robin Clarke photos)

"... To avoid a Munich-like appeasement on the one hand or a federal impasse on the other, I am suggesting that every one of us needs to form a cool-headed view of the difficulties and then, with warm hearts, try to find practicable solutions," he said.

"The destiny of our country cannot be decided by royal commissions. We, who call ourselves Canadians, must make it our business to understand the issues and help make a clear-headed choice among the few realistic alternatives that we may have open to us."

Mr. Wallace told the grads of Vic High that "B.C.'s second century will be as different to her first as light is to dark."

Mr. Wallace, chief figure in organizing B.C. and Canadian centenary celebrations here, said the province needs trained and educated people to develop properly.

Valedictorians were Keith Thompson at Mt. Douglas, Susan Price at Vic High, Michael O'Connor at Oak Bay, and Mervin Kurtz at Mount View.

Mount Douglas singled out four students for special honors.

Keith Thompson won the silver medal for citizenship. Edward Lord was judged top scholar, and Janice Newton and Stephen Hume shared the sportsmanship trophy, first time the award has been split.

Mount View honored 10 students. The awards:

Student of the year, Peter Lawrie, a Grade 11 pupil; citizenship, Joan Hodgkinson; leadership, Judy Harper; girls' sportsmanship, Kathy Robins; boys' sportsmanship, David Hutchings; achievement, Jacqueline Gavin; junior boys sports, Roger Barnett; senior boys sports, Ross Swanton; junior girls sports, Dierdre Ogden; senior girls sports, Heather Wood.

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: I am a 17-year-old girl with a serious problem. Several months ago my father was killed in an automobile accident. My mother was injured in the same accident, but not seriously.

The driver of the other car was a young man 21 years of age. He was charged with involuntary manslaughter. The court proceedings lasted a long time and I got to know the boy very well. When the verdict — not guilty — was handed down I was terribly happy because I had become very fond of him.

My mother insists he was guilty regardless of the verdict. She says he was speeding and that he lied on the stand. She hates the sight of him and I wouldn't think of telling her that I have been seeing him secretly.

Please tell me what to do. This boy could be the big love of my life — ODETTA

Dear Odetta: There are plenty of boys around without picking the one who killed your father — even if it was an accident.

This guy sounds like bad news in spades. Forget him. Your mother has had enough heartache.

Dear Ann Landers: My problem is not important, but it bothers me. Whenever we have guests for dinner my husband compliments me on the food in the presence of the guests. I think this puts the guests on the spot. They think they must say something nice about my cooking and it makes me uncomfortable.

My husband often compliments me when there are no guests present but of course they don't know this. Should I ask him to please stop praising the food when company is around? — PROCEDURE IN YONKERS

Dear Yonkers: Your husband sounds like a living doll. Don't put a damper on his compliments either in private or in the presence of others. Your guests probably think he is a sweet, thoughtful guy and that you are a lucky girl.

Every time a strange car drives up to our house the neighbor woman comes right over. By strange car I mean any car that isn't ours. She is so fast on her feet that often she beats the guests to our door.

I don't mean to be petty, Ann, but it is very annoying because the woman includes herself every time we have company. We own our house and don't want to sell, although I have actually considered doing so to get rid of this pest. Please tell me what to do. — LOVE THY WHAT?

Dear Love: How did the pest get so chummy? Overnight it didn't happen.

The only way to free yourself is to tell her that you are spending too much time in one another's home and that from now on it's going to be on an invitation only basis. It could be that she will stop speaking to you altogether. And wouldn't that be nice?

CONFIDENTIAL TO DOESN'T KNOW I EXIST: He knows you exist but he is not interested. Leave him alone. Boys actually enjoy pursuing girls. It makes them feel masculine. When you deprive them of the pleasure they resent it.

Artist Jack Wilkinson, his dancer wife, Marie, and black Labrador, Nim. The husband-wife team have opened a new arts centre in Oak Bay.

Father Paints

Painting and Ballet In New Art Studio

"Give me someone with complete faith in me and I can do as much for him in three years as anybody on the West Coast," says artist Jack Wilkinson. "After that of course it's up to the individual."

Jack is talking about his new art school which is opening at 2024 Oak Bay Avenue.

But this is no school for Sunday painters. The aim of the J. C. S. Wilkinson Art Studio is to "train the student in basic disciplines that will lead to the acquisition of a language common to all."

In other words you have to learn to paint.

"Too often nowadays people try to learn the minimum to express the maximum," Jack says seriously.

But the Wilkinson Art Studio is only half of an exciting new project that has sprung up in Victoria.

In the same, newly completed, one story building that houses the art school there is a large, spacious ballet studio. Jack's wife, the former Marie Maggiora, a well known city dancer, will be running this part of the art centre.

Marie has been teaching pupils from four year olds to grandmothers since last September in St. Mary's old church hall.

"I will teach classical ballet to students of all ages according to the standards as laid down by the Royal Academy of Dancing," she says.

This former Miss Victoria winner is not only an accredited ballet teacher by RAD standards, but is also the holder of an elementary school teaching certificate. She received her ballet training from Wynne Shaw.

Marie is giving several evening classes for older students, including mothers who want "limbering up" and afternoon classes for children.

The mother of three children ranging in ages from eight to four, Marie is a soft spoken young woman with classical Italian features.

"I've kept up my dancing in between babies. I'm never happier than when I'm dancing and having my own school is a dream come true."

The Wilkinson home, a large old house on St. David Street, is a living art gallery. Living, because one can see the progression of Jack's painting from Picassoque abstract to his recent more representational.

works. And his canvases fit, whether they be over a child's bed or in the front room. They are pictures that can be lived with!

Born in Windsor, Ont., Jack Wilkinson has had a varied life, including three years of general art and architectural courses at the Medway College of Art, Kent, England. There, he earned a first class certificate in art and a national diploma in design.

Following a stint in the RAF, he returned to Medway College for another three years of painting and sculpture and received a Ministry of Education Grant.

On his return to Canada in 1955, Jack studied under Fay Zach, formerly of Victoria. Since 1956 he has been a staff artist with the provincial government's department of public works, architect's branch.

He has exhibited in England, Vancouver and Victoria, including a one man show at the provincial library gallery. One of his large abstract canvases has been hung in the new wing of the Union Club and he designed the mosaics for the Centennial Fountain. Jack is at present working on a mural and sculpture project commissioned by the B.C. government.

His classes will cover painting, composition, sculpture and life drawing from a model. As well as one three hour art period a week, each student will attend a one hour philosophy of art discussion period. Sessions will be in the evenings and on weekends.

"Everybody is an artist," Jack believes, "but the true artist is more aware of the visual world and has learnt how to express his impressions. Just as the dancer has actually reformed her body, so must an artist acquire skills in order to convey his experience."

For those of us who are continually bewildered by the tangents taken by modern abstract art, Jack Wilkinson's philosophies make sense. He holds to the best of both the old and the new schools.

"I know what I'm doing now, but it took me about 10 years to finally understand what my art teachers were getting at. I think I could help a lot of people understand what art is all about without wasting so much time."

Americans Feel at Home Abroad

By CHARLES McCABE

PARIS—It is one of the commonplaces of the travel lodge that Americans go abroad to stay at home.

And we have even heard of some heroic travellers who have circled the globe without ever seeing a single damned native, or eating anything other than foot-long hot dogs drenched with ketchup.

The motto of most Americans who come to Europe seems to be, "Don't travel, but say you do."

For these laddies Hiltons are bliss. I do not say Hilton hotels, though the Hilton people do. These things are not hotels. They are boxes for Americans to hide in, when they're abroad.

Comme Hilton and his like have built considerable fortunes on a formula which consists in abating the Yankee's restlessness while at the same time avoiding an even greater evil: homesickness.

Those accommodations and amenities which are booked to the hilt this summer are the ones which are least like

Istanbul or Tashkent or Dublin or Edinburgh for whatever city the traveller finds himself in and most like the places which the journeyer never left, and never wants to.

Here I am at the entrepreneur's latest sandbox, the Paris Hilton, watching the same dreary old formula going into practice, as the cash registers go ting-a-ling. It ain't France, either old or new, that make the jolly noise. It's the good old dollar.

On the recent opening night Hiltonists from all over got mildly high on sourmash in the Western Bar, as they looked up at Lassos and cattle skeletons suspended from the walls. They put on cowboy hats and bandannas and sat down in Le Western, in the basement, to a dinner of barbecued beef, fried onion rings, Millionaire potato salad, fried apple pie with country butter and six-shooter coffee.

"Man, this is living," they said, one and all.

As one observer at opening night put it, "There is a whole society of people who rarely set foot outside a Hilton because what is there out there that isn't either dirty or dangerous? It is very unsafe to leave a Hilton except to go to the airport and fly to another Hilton. Everyone knows that."

The French magazine Arts and Leisure noted with some displeasure that M. Hilton was going to give French cuisine a miss, and intended, further, to fly over beef and lobsters from the States.

With all this, the magazine added caustically, "the poor American millionaire lost in Paris will be reassured and his profound anguish at missing Momma will be appeased."

The thing that most Americans hate especially about travel is the bitter end of it all: You wind up elsewhere. By fighting this terrible, alienating feeling brother Hilton is estimated to have erected a fortune of some $300,000,000.

As I say, there are some wicked souls who say Americans are more interested in having the name than the game, who would rather have the reputation of being in Munich than bothering to take a look at the damned place. Travel, by this definition, is a superb way to narrow the mind.

Churchill's Home Open to Public Soon

LONDON—Sir Winston Churchill's country home—Chartwell near Westerham in Kent—opens to the public June 11.

The National Trust, to whom the house belongs, has done much work to adapt Chartwell for its new role as a Churchill museum, and has arranged the house as it used to be in the 1930's.

Many of Sir Winston's belongings, and paintings, are displayed in the house, and the Churchill family has allowed some furniture to remain to give it a "lived in" atmosphere.

Chartwell commands a magnificent view over the Weald of Kent, and stands in beautiful grounds: the garden is famous for its wide lawns, clipped yews, flowering shrubs and chains of lakes.

In the rose garden is the avenue of golden roses which were a golden wedding gift to Sir Winston and Lady Churchill from their children in 1905.

Fare Cut Vetoed

VANCOUVER (CP) — The leader of a New Zealand trade mission said here a fare reduction by Canadian Pacific Airlines would have hurt his country's airline.

H. W. B. Patterson said Air New Zealand has found South Pacific routes marginal at best. The airline also flies into Los Angeles twice a week.

"Under these circumstances Air New Zealand has found that it would be uneconomical to reduce fares at this time."

CPA, which has flights once every two weeks to New Zealand, proposed in April a 30-day South Pacific excursion fare at 40 per cent below present fares. It also proposed lowering regular fares by a flat 20 per cent.

New Zealand, Australia and the United Kingdom vetoed the proposal.

"If fares were reduced it would hurt Air New Zealand," Mr. Patterson said.

STAN DELAPLANE Tips You Off

The wonderful world of air tipping customs. (But not in Tahiti.)

There are so many variations it's a game. So learn a few rules. Don't say: "I want a ticket to . . ." Ask a few questions.

Excursion fares: Lower than regular fares. Usually off-season and off-days—Monday through Friday is the time you must fly. Ask the ticket agent if they have an excursion fare.

Tour-timed fares: New in Europe this year and lower than excursion fares. You get a lower ticket rate because you also buy a tour. But—the airlines have it worked out for a minimum tour. Say, just hotel and transportation from the airport. Doesn't mean you're in a group. Ask if they have it.

Family plans: Inside the U.S., Monday through Friday. You pay full fare. Wife pays 75. Kids pay 75. You don't get family plan going overseas. BUT—you do get it to the point of leaving the country. Say, from the West Coast to New York including provision on peak flights. Lots of money involved here. So ask.

Buy your ticket to your furthest point. It's cheaper. Don't go to Paris and decide to buy a new ticket to Rome. Buy it to Rome first—turn it back in if you don't use it. Or take your ticket to the Paris office of the airline and ask them to extend it.

If you're watching every penny, check prices from different departure points. From the East, Boston-Europe is cheaper than from New York. And Montreal is cheaper than Boston. From the West, Vancouver-Europe is cheaper than Los Angeles.

"We've seen some airline tours advertised but wonder if we will be in a group and what kind of people they will be."

Probably not in a group at all—though they have those, too. What they're doing is routing you and making some reservations. You might be with a group of people doing the same trip but you don't know it.

"Do you tip on airlines?"

No. But you tip the baggage porters. Even in Japan, one of the exceptions to Japan's no-

OREGON WONDER

Of the many attractions in Oregon none is more interesting than Crater Lake in southern part of state. Ages ago, Mount Mazama erupted and collapsed into its own volcanic crater. Later volcanic action created Wizard Island, with its own small crater. Rain and melting snow filled the 3,000-foot deep lake which is centerpiece of Crater Lake National Park.

TV Helps Tourists

LONDON — A television service designed specially for visitors to London has been launched here.

The service operates seven days a week transmitting news, feature programmes and films of interest to tourists. It also carries advertising for tourist goods and services.

Initially, the new TV service covers a network of five major hotels in central London. It will later be extended to cover other leading London hotels.

It provides daily information and advice for visitors on what to do, where to go and what to see in and around London.

Sasquatch Not Good Enough For Elegant B.C. Village

HARRISON HOT SPRINGS, B.C. (CP) — Residents are up in arms over a decision by village commissioners to play down the legend of the sasquatch, British Columbia's answer to the abominable snowman.

The authorities who govern this resort town 85 miles northeast of Vancouver took their stand after hotel manager Max Nargid said the area is becoming too elegant for the sasquatch — creatures about eight feet tall and covered with hair.

First to go will be a neon sign of a sasquatch welcoming visitors to the town.

But residents have decided to put up new signs as quickly as the village takes down the old ones. "The legend of the sasquatch is as old as Harrison Lake and the glans were here long before the first tourists," said Chief Norman Francis of the Chehalis Indian reserve.

Legend had it that sasquatch come down from the mist-shrouded mountains around here each spring and carry off Indian maidens.

Bed-and-Breakfast Next In U.K. Stately Homes?

LONDON (CP) — Some of the stately homes of England may go into the bed-and-breakfast business to help Britain's tourist trade.

The British Travel Association has written to 50 owners of historic country houses drawing their attention to the money to be earned through conference business, which would include providing sleeping accommodation where necessary.

The BTA, Britain's national tourist organization, acted on a report from a committee which has been studying how the stately homes — a big draw for foreign visitors and British families on day trips — can expand their role in the tourist industry.

Quebec Loss
Damper
On Medicare

OTTAWA (CP) — Indications that Quebec may be missing from the provinces with federally-supported medical care insurance programs gives new immediacy to a problem the federal government hasn't even considered.

Health Minister MacEachern says the federal government hasn't yet examined whether compensating payments will be made to provinces unwilling to participate in Ottawa's offer to pay half the medicare bill of provincial programs.

This has been the federal position since Prime Minister Pearson put forward the federal offer in July, 1965, aiming at starting payments by July 1, 1967.

High Court Appointments
Made to Party Members

SHERBROOKE, Que. (CP)—Almost all judges appointed to superior courts in eight provinces between 1945 and 1965 were affiliated with the political party in power, an informal study by members of the Association of Canada Law Teachers shows.

R. C. B. Risk, associate professor of law at the University of Toronto, read a summary report of the study Friday at the association's annual meeting.

Based on data collected by faculty members at law schools in the provinces the study shows:

ALL IN POLITICS
● Of 10 persons appointed in Nova Scotia, 14 in New Brunswick, 23 in Saskatchewan and 25 in Alberta, almost all were affiliated with the party in power and almost all were active in politics.

● Of 108 in Quebec, more than four-fifths were affiliated with the party in power and affiliated with the party in power and active in politics.

● Of 44 in Ontario, at least seven-eighths were affiliated with the party in power and two-thirds were active in politics. Of 21 in Manitoba, "about 18 were affiliated with the party in power."

B.C. STORY
● Of 31 in British Columbia, nine-tenths were affiliated with the party in power and two-thirds were active in politics. Newfoundland and Prince Edward Island, which do not have law schools, were not included in the survey. Superior courts include such courts as the high court and the Court of Appeal in Ontario and the Superior Court, Court of Queen's Bench and the Court of Appeal in Quebec.

A. T. Hewitt, an Ottawa lawyer and lecturer in law at the University of Ottawa, defended the existing procedure.

He said all but a few lawyers are affiliated with the political parties and active in politics. To eliminate politics would eliminate most members of the bar as possible candidates for the bench.

Harry W. Arthurs of Osgoode Hall Law School, Toronto, said Mr. Hewitt misinterpreted the significance of the survey, which was the lawyers picked to be judges came from "one particular side of the political war."

Jacob S. Zeigel, professor of law at the University of Saskatchewan, said:

SHOULD REFLECT
"Since judges are appointed to administer justice, the system by which they are appointed should reflect justice." No one was protesting that lawyers picked to be judges should not have had a background in politics. Those who wanted reform in the existing system just felt "political considerations should not be the governing factor."

William H. Angus, professor of law at the University of Alberta, recommended that an independent committee be established in each province. The committee could select a list of qualified candidates for the federal justice minister, who could make a recommendation to the cabinet. Or if the justice minister wished to consider other prospects, he could submit names to the committee for appraisal.

Lower Costs
Lure U.K.
Into Space

PARIS (Reuters)—An uneasy development Organization caused by Britain's threatened withdrawal from its six partners in Europe's space rocket program will be submitted to the seven member governments for final decision, sharing costs that would slash Britain's contribution by about 13 per cent.

The British consider their share of total costs, almost 40 per cent, far too large. West Germany, by contrast, pays only 22 per cent.

If the new formula is approved by the seven member governments, West Germany will share the major financial burden equally with Britain, about withdrawing.

Under the proposed financial formula, Britain's contribution to the project, the costs of which have more than doubled to $450,000,000 in the last four years, would be cut to 27 per cent from 39.7 per cent.

Officials said West Germany's contribution would rise to 27 per cent from 22 per cent and France's to 25 per cent from 21.8.

These are symptoms of virus infection and any wandering aphid can pick up the infection on her hypodermic sting and carry it to your healthy plants; one sick plant is a centre of infection which could devastate the whole patch. There is no cure for virus diseases, and it is just plain shiftless to wait around hoping some queer-looking plants will grow out of their troubles. This is one good thing about the three-bed system—you are so rich in plants you can afford to be ruthless in destroying every suspicious individual.

"I asked him how much more I can't not do what we worked his You must make his diagnosis. So would cost me $30 to get it good enough shape to have taken away for junk. Also, not the $300 in it I could probably save myself $100."

I was sure my wife was unpleasant about "could," which was not only the practical solution. It was honest.

Emile was pleased. He shook my hand and gave me his Gaultie look. In his eyes was pride, courage and nobility purpose.

'Hungary' Haunts Peking

HONG KONG (Reuters)—China's Communist party has warned against the risk of a counter-revolution and said there will be bloodshed unless steps are taken to stop it. The warning came Friday in an editorial comment by the party's theoretical magazine Red Flag, quoted by Radio Peking and monitored here. It warned that the party and China "may change color and hundreds of people may lose their lives" unless precautions are taken to prevent attempts by the bourgeoisie to seize power.

Red Flag called on the Chinese people to guard against a "counter-revolutionary" springing of the Hungarian type in 1956.

'Mid-Air Mid-Air Mid-Air'

EDWARDS AFB, Calif. (UPI)—An air force investigation board heard dramatic radio tapes Thursday of the fatal collision of the triple-sonic XB-70 research bomber and an F-104 starfighter chase plane flown by veteran test pilot Joe Walker.

Walker and air force Maj. Carl Cross, co-pilot of the $500,000 XB-70, were killed Wednesday when the two planes plunged into the Mojave Desert north of Barstow. The tapes contained a description of the collision by air force Col. Joe Cotton, who was riding in a T-38 chase plane when the impact occurred.

'Your Tail Is Gone'

"Mid-air... Mid-air... Mid-air," Cotton could be heard saying. Seconds later he calmly began to give instructions to the XB-70 pilot, Al White, with whom he had flown on most of the huge plane's mission.

"Okay," Cotton said. "You're straight and level—good shape."

Then, "Okay, it looks like your tail is gone... you'll probably spin..."

"Now you're beginning to spin—bad out!"

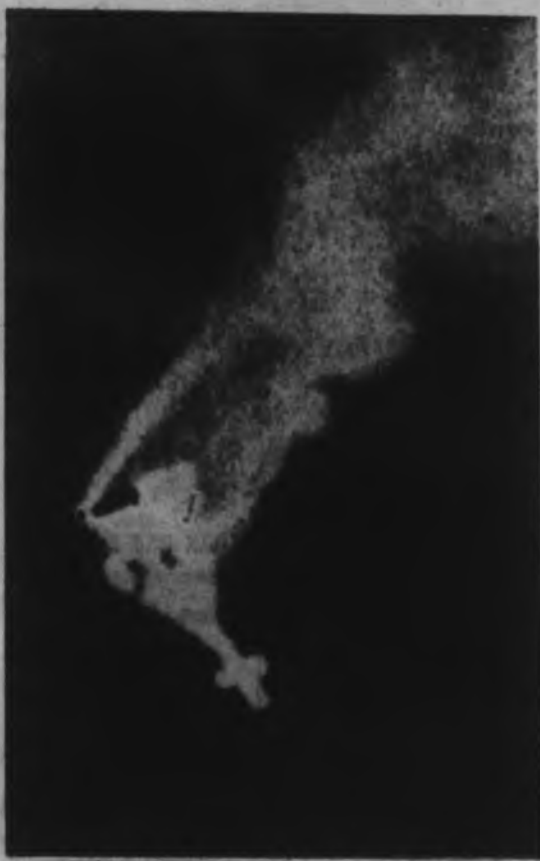

'Al Is Out'

As the six-jet bomber spun toward earth, Cotton reported: "One capsule has ejected. I don't know which one." Seconds later he said, "It's the left capsule. Al is out."

For reasons unknown, neither Cross nor Walker ejected.

The air force acknowledged Thursday that the collision occurred during a tight formation flight to allow pictures to be taken by a General Electric photographer flying in a civilian jet.

GE built the XB-70 jet engines, as well as the F-104 engine.

Airline Strike Set

Federal Mediator Moves Into Fray

'Gap Closing' In Quebec Dock Strike

MONTREAL (CP)—Representatives of the Shipping Federation of Canada and of the striking International Longshoremen's Association (ILA) are to meet with Labor Minister Nicholson in Ottawa today.

The announcement was made by the mediators in the current strike of longshoremen at Montreal, Quebec City and Trois-Rivieres.

The mediators would not speculate on a settlement, but said the issues now are more "sharply defined" and that the gap between the parties has narrowed considerably.

TORONTO (CP)—A federal labor department mediator has moved directly into a dispute between Air Canada and its 1,453 sales employees, attempting to prevent a strike set for midnight Wednesday night.

The "seriousness of this situation" was emphasized by Labor Minister Nicholson in Ottawa after the Canadian Airline Employees Association (Ind.) announced Friday it had voted 1,201 in favor of the strike.

Air Canada said it will operate its flights on schedule, using supervisory personnel, despite the strike called by workers handling tickets, reservations, airport counters, teletypes and public offices.

"We don't anticipate any wildcat or sympathy strikes," said an airline spokesman. "We expect all other employee groups of AC to honor our agreements with their unions."

Nielsen Heats Up Bankruptcy Hunt

OTTAWA (CP)—Justice department officials said Friday night they are looking into new information about alleged multi-million-dollar credit frauds by some bankrupt firms.

Conservative MP Erik Nielsen said the information was given to RCMP by some of his informants. It involved 52 legitimate and dummy corporations or syndicates in four provinces suspected of fraud.

He said the federal and provincial governments lost an estimated $150,000,000 in tax revenue last year as a result of bankruptcy frauds.

FOUR PROVINCES
Mr. Nielsen, the lawyer and MP for Yukon who broke the Lucien Rivard ball affair in 1964, said in an interview the firms involved were located in four provinces, mostly Quebec and Ontario.

Names of individuals also had been provided the RCMP.

He said informants came to him and some of them agreed to talk with RCMP officers in his presence. Several such interviews had taken place in the last few days.

Businessman In Coma

Sinatra Quizzed After Bar Fight

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—A prominent Beverly Hills businessman was in serious condition with head injuries Friday night and singer Frank Sinatra had a discolored eye following a cocktail-lounge altercation, police reported.

Police quoted Sinatra as saying the man hit him near the eye without provocation and that he did not strike back.

In Mt. Sinai Hospital was a Frederick R. Weisman, 54, former president of Hunt Foods, Inc., and brother-in-law of financier Norton Simon.

Weisman remained unconscious more than 48 hours after the incident in the Polo Lounge of the fashionable Beverly Hills Hotel.

'LOUD-MOUTHED'
Detectives said Sinatra, 50, told them he, singer Dean Martin and Giuliano (Jilly) Rizzo, New York restaurateur, were about to leave at 1:30 a.m. Wednesday when Weisman approached and said: "You and your friends are loud-mouthed."

Sinatra said the man hit him on the cheek below the right eye. A hotel detective jumped between them.

TABLE BROKEN
The top of a cocktail table was broken from its base, apparently as Weisman fell across the table and then to the floor.

Sinatra's party then left, and "I looked behind me and as I left I saw a man on the floor."

Sinatra told police: "I at no time saw anyone hit him, and I certainly did not."

Sellers, fashion designer Mary Quant and avant-garde playwright Harold Pinter were among recipients in a crop of titles handed out to mark the Queen's official birthday, when worthy persons receive honors.

Royal recognition of figures who have contributed to the current British explosion of activity in the arts, "pop" culture and youthful dress and fashions followed a precedent set last year when the Beatles singing group were made Members of the Order of the British Empire (MBE).

Possibly the "high priestess" of the swinging London cult is Mary Quant, whose sharply distinctive styles for the young London set rocketed her to success.

Quant clothes now sell all over the world, and at the age of 32 she becomes an Officer of the Order of the British Empire (OBE).

Peter Sellers has appeared in many of Britain's top pictures of the 1960s. He was made a Commander of the Order of the British Empire (CBE).

Also made a CBE was Harold Pinter, whose new wave plays were a sensation on British television and whose play The Caretaker was a stage hit in London and New York.

Of the five persons made barons in the list, one is Sir John Hunt, who led the British conquest of Mount Everest in 1953.

Hunt, 55, was knighted soon after the Everest feat. For the last 10 years he has been secretary to Prince Philip's award program aimed at stimulating outdoor adventure by young persons.

School Trustees Want Investigator

COURTENAY — School Trustees here have taken the next move in their dispute with the local janitors union by asking the Labor Relations Board to appoint an investigator into the dispute between the two bodies.

The affair began when the board fired janitor Len Mark. The janitors asked full reinstatement without penalty and union. The school board decided to go one step further and have the services of an investigator. Such a person can make a decision or can report to the Labor Relations Board who may make a decision as a body. Either way the findings are binding on both parties in the dispute.

C. N. Peterson said, the appointment of an investigator relieves both parties of financial obligations such as would be incurred by an arbitration board.

The school board has also received approval of construction of vocational shops at the senior secondary school. The tender was awarded to Harrison and Longland for $79,591.

Although the amount allowed in a recent referendum is only $77,000, it is expected the final figure will be closer to this amount when a refund of 4.4 per cent sales tax is calculated.

The shops will be built to junior high specifications as the school will change from senior to junior over a period of the next three to five years as the new senior high complex is constructed at Sandwick.

Doctor as Guest

Mental Health Group Holds First Meeting

COURTENAY — First meeting of the Upper Island Mental Health Society was held with Dr. S. E. Jensen, director of Vancouver Island Mental Health Services, as guest speaker.

Harry Harris was named president; William Lunn, vice-president; Mrs. A. W. Shubbs, secretary; Mrs. Frank Marshall, treasurer.

Dr. Jensen said, "this is a significant achievement. You must now choose the path to follow, assess your needs, negotiate with official sources to find the best way to develop your aims, rouse the interest of the people within bounds of the area you hope to serve.

"You are the first, and what you do will set the basis program for others interested in like development."

"Already there are signs of interest in this new society and you will be watched as you assess, discuss, plan and grow. You must move with thoughtful deliberation toward your goal."

"This will bring many new ideas, perhaps a reorganization of priorities, the need to decide how and where to move ahead. You have no means of comparison since you are pioneering in this field."

"Should you seek to supply the very special needs of alcoholism, the need for foster homes, sheltered workshops, psychiatric facilities? Should your first aim be the establishment of a special assessment and treatment team comprising a psychiatrist, social worker, psychologist and nurse? Or can this wait while other more urgent matters are considered?"

"There are no answers yet. First you must assess your district needs, study the incidence of mental illness, estimate costs," Dr. Jensen advised.

Piano to Honor Music Teacher

COURTENAY — A former music teacher in this district for many years, Mrs. Hilda Williams, who was killed in a car accident this spring will be remembered here.

Administrators of the Hilda Williams Memorial Fund have decided to purchase a piano. The committee hopes the community eventually will have a permanent arts centre to which this piano would be a valuable contribution.

Until that time, the school board has consented to place it in the school to be built on the former Sandwick Military Camp for use in student functions, and where it would be made available for musical recitals, seminars, and workshops. The piano will not be purchased until the school is completed in September, 1967.

The quality of the piano will be determined by the amount of the fund which now stands at $275. The committee has set $1,000 as its aim, with which an excellent piano could be purchased, administrators say.

Donations can be made at the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce in Courtenay or Comox.

It has been suggested that a concerted effort be made this summer to increase the fund by means of auctioning items which are lying unused. "Be sure to tag auction items for the Hilda Williams Memorial Fund and Mr. Whitmore will pass on the proceeds to the committee," a spokesman says.

If transportation is needed to get articles to the auction room, this will be arranged by contacting any member of the committee of: Mrs. G. A. Kirk, chairman; Mrs. E. Hyde, secretary treasurer; Mrs. D. C. Coleman, corresponding secretary; Mrs. V. Schieldrup, Mrs. R. H. Perrott, Mrs. W. M. Crosby, Mrs. K. Barr or Mrs. D. Bullen.

Construction of a wharf 204 feet long by 50 wide will be undertaken in this phase of the waterfront development program. Work is to be completed in five months.

The first phase, for which a $130,960 contract was awarded last February, was for the reclamation of some three acres of land.

The nursery school, normally held at the Cowichan Indian recreation hall, will re-open in September.

Island Plans Prevent
Ribbons of Sprawl

By JACK FRY
Legislative Reporter

Northern Vancouver Island is the "most tremendous concept in the world" because its land is being put to the highest economic use possible, Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell said Friday.

Elaborating on a theme mentioned recently, he said in an interview there is no possibility of any urban sprawl developing along the roads connecting five towns at the northern tip of the island.

This is because all the land — right up to the municipal boundaries — is either Crown land or land under forest management licence, which no one can acquire for private enterprise.

Unless some spectacular development occurs, which is not anticipated at this time, the northern half of Vancouver Island will consist of five pockets of urban living inside

Mine Town Won't Have Councillors

There will be no municipal government in the Western Mines town in Strathcona Park, Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell said Friday.

"You can't have any elected officials in the park," he said. "The real government in the park is the department of recreation and conservation, and Western Mines will be completely and totally answerable to the department."

Mr. Campbell, who represents the Comox riding, said he still thinks that many people who work at Western Mines will live in Campbell River and commute to work.

He said it is wrong to refer to the company housing development as a "townsite" because it will be merely a residence area without its own civic government.

Asked whether the mining company would be willing to invest a lot of money in housing which it knows is to be torn down in several decades, Mr. Campbell replied: "It's not a question of can they afford it — they have no choice."

a multi-purpose wilderness which is used for forestry, recreation, some mining and fishing in nearby waters, Mr. Campbell said.

Community plans already have been prepared for the orderly development of three of these communities — Port Alice, Port McNeill and Gold River, and a community plan will be drawn up for a logging town at Woos Lake.

The fifth community, Port Hardy, has no community plan but its municipal boundary is surrounded by forest land and there is no chance of urban sprawl breaking out, said the minister.

Active Pass

Midden Diggers Race Ferry Backwash

An anthropological field party has started excavating an ancient Indian midden which is being destroyed by the backwash of government ferries going through Active Pass.

Ferry passengers can see the field party's tent village at a rocky point on Mayne

Island, just inside the western entrance to Active Pass. Field director Don Mitchell said Friday a group of six university students will spend the entire month of June digging at this site, which he figures will be completely washed away within two years.

"This is a priority project several feet a year are being washed off the cliff face and there's only about a 15-foot-wide strip left," he said.

Mr. Mitchell, who is an instructor in anthropology at the University of Victoria, said he hopes the six university students working at the site will find new artifacts which will add more knowledge about the culture of the ancient Indians who used to live in this region. He hopes, in particular, to find more information about the use of mysterious little stone objects dubbed "what-its" which were found last year during archeological diggings at Montague Harbor on nearby Galiano Island. "I am sure we will find some here but I hope to find them in a situation which will show us what they were used for," said Mr. Mitchell. "Somewhere, sometime, we are going to find out what they were used for — and this may be the site."

The Mayne Island project is jointly financed by the provincial Archeological Sites Advisory Board and the University of Victoria. Artifacts which are recovered in the diggings will be studied at UVIC and later turned over to the provincial museum. The work is being carried out by six university anthropology students, under the direction of David Keenleyside, a fourth year student at UBC.

The other students are Judith Buxton, David Sawbridge, Hohn Noury and Gregory Monks, of UVIC, and Knut Fladmark of UBC. The diggings, now several feet deep, might be visible to ferry passengers. They are about halfway between the base camp and several Indian houses along the shoreline.

100 Women Rally
Against Food Costs

By MARY TAYLOR

PORT ALBERNI — The high cost of eating, especially for a family with five small children, impelled a young Alberni Valley mother to instigate a public meeting, at which close to 100 vocal and determined women, and not a few men, showed up Thursday evening.

Mrs. Valerie Hill, 24-year-old mother said: "Food is my biggest problem. I don't have too much time but I am determined to do something about it."

When Mrs. Hill first expressed her views on the local "hot line" radio program, she was joined by dozens of other homemakers protesting prices, packing, merchandising "gimmicks" and other things annoying to food purchasers.

Surveyed by members of the Alberni Valley Labor Council that they were undertaking a survey of food prices Mrs. Hill said: "I remembered how various groups had worked on other problems too, such as pollution, but nothing really happened until the public got behind the idea."

"So while we are more than happy to exchange any information we may get, and will be glad to co-operate with them, our group is in no way associated with the Labor Council, or even with the IWA, who kindly offered the use of their hall for the first meeting."

Mr. Squire said the Alberni Valley is being overloaded with shopping services. "We need another shopping centre like we need another gas station," he said in an interview. "Wholesalers, who are also the retailers, control everything. This new shopping centre is not coming in because we need a shopping centre, but because the company has to find another outlet for its goods."

"Additional competition won't lower prices. We already have plenty of competition, but still we have no low prices."

"Are the prices geared to the for weekends" was "another complaint. "Trips to Hawaii, costly pre-packaged holiday homes offered as prizes, let trips here and there... instead of these why not lower prices?" housewives asked.

"Gimmicks" "Gimmicky coupons and unwanted premiums, plus free gifts for the children to make the parents buy" also came in for their share of shopper's displeasure.

Perhaps most of all, shoppers appeared to be annoyed by checkers going from store to store to examine competitors' prices.

"If prices were legitimate and based on a suitable markup, no one would be able to juggle prices this way" homemakers contended.

"OVERLOADED"

Mr. Squire said the Alberni Valley is being overloaded with shopping services. "We need another shopping centre like we need another gas station," he said in an interview. "Wholesalers, who are also the retailers, control everything. This new shopping centre is not coming in because we need a shopping centre, but because the company has to find another outlet for its goods."

Woodworkers Serve
Firms Strike Notice

PORT ALBERNI — Local 1-85 of the International Woodworkers of America has served strike notice.

Walter Allen, president of the local, announced: "Strike action, as required by the Labor Relations Act, has been sent to all companies represented by Forest Industrial Relations and with whom the local union holds contracts."

"This action is being taken as a result of a request by the regional negotiating committee that the companies within the jurisdiction of the local union be so notified."

A report in respect to current negotiations will be given to the members at the regular local union meeting in the IWA hall, Sunday, June 12, at 2 p.m.

Section 52-B of the act requires 48 hours strike notice be given before unions can strike. Once such notice is given, the union may then strike at any convenient time.

In the case of the IWA, the present contract is in effect until midnight June 14. If negotiations should breakdown, a strike could be called as of 12:01 a.m. June 15.

FORMALITY

Even if negotiations went on past the end of the contract date, an unlikely but not impossible situation, a strike could be called at that time, without further notice, union men explained.

While no official word has been given on progress of negotiations, and the assurance of strike notice is termed by some as "a formality" other workers feel it indicated negotiations are applying all the pressure they can to have the new contract settled before the deadline next Wednesday.

Meantime Valley merchants are feeling the pinch in sales of such items as major appliances, and furnishings. Food markets, however, seemed almost busier than usual, as strike-wise housewives stock up on staples "just in case."

Valley's good income level, rather than to a legitimate mark-up?" was another question shoppers asked. "Does the Alberni Valley pay more for the same goods than is paid in lower-income areas?"

Some of the answers to that will be found on mimeographed survey sheets distributed at the meeting. The sheets list various well-known and regularly-used household products and foods.

Those attending the meeting were asked to send them to friends in other parts of B.C. and Canada and ask the receiver to shop on a certain day, and send back the report.

Results will be tabulated, and publicized, so residents can determine whether prices are actually higher here or whether food is constantly spiralling cost is a common problem across the province, and across Canada.

COMMITTEE

Fifty-five people left their phone numbers with Mrs. Hill at the close of the meeting, signifying their willingness to work actively on the committee. A meeting is planned for next Thursday when a name and an executive will be chosen, and the group will get into high gear.

"Most of us have not too much time, but if we get enough help, no one will be overburdened," said Mrs. Hill. Only one of whose five children is in school.

The battling budgeters have been offered the use of the IWA hall for their Thursday meeting, but it is possible it may be held in a private home.

UNAFFILIATED

While they appreciate all help, the group would prefer to be firmly established as an independent entity, encompassing all interested parties, and unaffiliated with any political or union group, Mrs. Hill indicated. Similar surveys of food prices had been planned by the executive of the IWA here, also, but due to the pressure of contract negotiations, the survey had been temporarily set aside.

Meantime, shopping sheets will be going out all over B.C., and at least as far east as Ottawa, where Mrs. Tom Barnett, wife of the MP for Comox-Alberni, has indicated she will be willing to undertake a weekend shopping trip to help the local surveyors.

The invitation will be extended by the city's fire chief Lorne Cleland who was authorized by council to attend this year's meeting in Kamloops in August.

The college will be held from August 10-19 and Al Sandy Stradman pointed out the sessions always appeared to be held on the mainland and felt such a meeting here would be a good centennial event as well as promoting the area.

Building Tenders
Stun School Board

By JOY HUNTLEY

CAMPBELL RIVER — School board chairman Bruce Saunders here suggested that trustees take time to digest tenders opened at a meeting and regain their composure.

He made the statement following the discovery that tenders for additions to Quadra Island School were 50 per cent over estimates and those for Sayward were one third more.

Bids opened are good for thirty days. Casey Johnson Construction of Victoria quoted $33,262 for Quadra's addition with September 15 as completion date.

Ewert Construction Ltd., Campbell River quoted $46,591 for Quadra to be completed October 15.

E. J. Hunter and Sons of Victoria bid $93,748.96 for Sayward plus $8,326 for additional outside work with completion date December 1. The chairman pointed out that an addition to Sayward School in 1964 cost $18.20 cents a square foot whereas this quote was for about $22 a square foot.

DRAWINGS

In other business trustees voted to submit working drawings to the department of education for approval on additions to Rockland, Campbellton, Willow Point and Discovery Passage schools.

They were also told that the site for the new central Campbell River elementary school was cleared ready for the new school.

Two tenders were opened for a new 73 passenger school bus for next year.

BUS BIDS

Willock Truck company quoted $16,000 for GMC while International asked $13,910. The bids were turned over to the maintenance foreman Jack Riley to study the specifications.

Trustees voted to borrow the sum of $12,500 for the purchase of this bus which is the maximum shareable allowed by the Department of Education for a new bus.

Campbell School's float depicted the old woman who lived in a shoe.

A letter was also sent to Mrs. Doris Sewell, director of Adult thanking her for the excellent job she is doing in this field.

A report was received on the most successful inter-elementary school track meet held Monday. Trustees attending reported competition was exceptionally keen and the enthusiasm of the children was very gratifying.

Cedar School took the trophy for most points but a small school, Maple, won the handicapped trophy.

It warned that the party and China "may change color and hundreds of people may lose their lives" unless precautions are taken to prevent attempts by the bourgeoisie to seize power. Red Flag called on the Chinese people to guard against a "counter-revolutionary" uprising of the Hungarian type in 1956.

'Mid-Air Mid-Air Mid-Air'

EDWARDS AFB, Calif. (UPI)—An air force investigation board heard dramatic radio tapes Thursday of the fatal collision of the supersonic XB-70 research bomber and an F-104 starfighter chase plane flown by veteran test pilot Joe Walker.

Walker and air force Maj. Carl Cross, co-pilot of the $500,000,000 XB-70, were killed Wednesday when the two planes plunged into the Mojave Desert north of Barstow.

The tapes contained a description of the collision by air force Col. Joe Cotton, who was riding in a T-38 chase plane when the impact occurred.

"Your Tail Is Gone" "Mid-air ... Mid-air ... Mid-air," Cotton could be heard saying.

Seconds later he calmly began to give instructions to the XB-70 pilot, Al White, with whom he had flown on most of the huge plane's mission. "Okay," Cotton said. "You're straight and level — good shape."

Then, "Okay. It looks like your tail is gone ... you'll probably spin ..."

"Now you're beginning to spin — bail out!"

"Al Is Out" As the six-jet bomber spun toward earth, Cotton reported:

"One capsule has ejected. I don't know which one." Seconds later he said, "It's the left capsule. Al is out." For reasons unknown, neither Cross nor Walker ejected.

The air force acknowledged Thursday that the collision occurred during a tight formation flight to allow pictures to be taken by a General Electric photographer flying in a civilian jet.

GE built the XB-70 jet engines, as well as the F-104 engine.

'Gap Closing' In Quebec Dock Strike

MONTREAL (CP)—Representatives of the Shipping Federation of Canada and of the striking International Longshoremen's Association (ILA) are to meet with Labor Minister Nicholson in Ottawa today.

The announcement was made by the mediators in the current strike of longshoremen at Montreal, Quebec City and Trois-Rivieres.

The mediators would not speculate on a settlement, but said the issues now are more "sharply defined" and that the gap between the parties has narrowed considerably.

TORONTO (CP)—A federal labor department mediator has moved directly into a dispute between Air Canada and its 1,453 sales employees, attempting to prevent a strike set for midnight Wednesday night.

The "seriousness of this situation" was emphasized by Labor Minister Nicholson in Ottawa after the Canadian Airline Employees Association (Ind.) announced Friday it had voted 1,201 in favor of the strike.

Air Canada said it will operate its flights on schedule, using supervisory personnel, despite the strike called by workers handling tickets, reservations, airport counters, teletypes and public offices.

"We don't anticipate any wildcat or sympathy strikes," said an airline spokesman. "We expect all other employee groups of AC to honor our agreements with their unions."

Bankruptcy Case

TORY SPURS FRAUD HUNT

OTTAWA (CP)—Justice department officials said Friday night they are looking into new information about alleged multi-million-dollar credit frauds by some bankrupt firms.

Conservative MP Erik Nielsen said the information was given to RCMP by some of his informants. It involved 52 legitimate and dummy corporations or syndicates in four provinces suspected of fraud.

He said the federal and provincial governments lost an estimated $150,000,000 in tax revenue last year as a result of bankruptcy frauds.

Mr. Nielsen, the lawyer and MP for Yukon who broke the Lucien Rivard bail affair in 1964, said in an interview the firms involved were located in four provinces, mostly Quebec and Ontario.

Names of individuals also had been provided the RCMP. He said informants came to him and some of them agreed to talk with RCMP officers in his presence. Several such interviews had taken place in the last few days.

Businessman In Coma

Sinatra Quizzed After Bar Fight

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—A prominent Beverly Hills businessman was in serious condition with head injuries Friday night and singer Frank Sinatra had a discolored eye following a cocktail-lounge altercation, police reported.

Sinatra

Weisman

Police quoted Sinatra as saying the man hit him near the eye without provocation and that he did not strike back.

In Mt. Sinai Hospital was Frederick R. Weisman, 54, former president of Hunt Foods, Inc., and brother-in-law of financier Norton Simon.

Weisman remained unconscious more than 48 hours after the incident in the Polo Lounge of the fashionable Beverly Hills Hotel.

'LOUD-MOUTHED'

Detectives said Sinatra, 50, told them he, singer Dean Martin and Giuliano (Jilly) Rizzo, New York restaurateur, were about to leave at 1:30 a.m. Wednesday when Weisman approached and said: "You and your friends are loud-mouthed."

Sinatra said the man hit him on the cheek below the right eye. A hotel detective jumped between them.

TABLE BROKEN

The top of a cocktail table was broken from its base, apparently as Weisman fell across the table and then to the floor. Sinatra's party then left, and: "I looked behind me and as I left I saw a man on the floor." Sinatra told police: "I at no time saw anyone hit him, and I certainly did not."

Sellers, Mary Quant, Pinter

A Swinging Honors List

LONDON (Reuters)—Movie actor Peter Sellers and members of the "swinging" London set were included today in Queen Elizabeth's birthday honors list.

Sellers, fashion designer Mary Quant and avant-garde playwright Harold Pinter were among recipients in a crop of titles handed out to mark the Queen's official birthday, when worthy persons receive honors.

Royal recognition of figures who have contributed to the current British explosion of activity in the arts, "pop" culture and youthful dress and fashions followed a precedent set last year when the Beatles singing group were made Members of the Order of the British Empire (MBE).

Possibly the "high priestess" of the swinging London cult is Mary Quant, whose sharply distinctive styles for the young London set rocketed her to success. Quant clothes now sell all over the world, and at the age of 32 she becomes an Officer of the Order of the British Empire (OBE).

Peter Sellers has appeared in many of Britain's top pictures of the 1960s. He was made a Commander of the Order of the British Empire (CBE).

Also made a CBE was Harold Pinter, whose new wave plays were a sensation on British television and whose play The Caretaker was a stage hit in London and New York.

Of the five persons made barons in the list, one is Sir John Hunt, who led the British conquest of Mount Everest in 1953.

Hunt, 55, was knighted soon after the Everest feat. For the last 10 years he has been secretary to Prince Philip's award program aimed at stimulating outdoor adventure by young persons.
